In Brief...

Fire station going up

Construction has begun on the new fire station and additions to the township hall and Department of Public Works offices, with completion scheduled in four to five months, according to Joe Didia, grants administrator for Van Buren Township. Last week, the Township Board approved a low bid of $225,100 for the three projects from Hillyer Construction Co. of Birmingham.

The 55-foot-long new fire station will have three bays and a hose tower used for drying. The Township Hall addition will add a meeting room and storage area, while the DPW addition will double the size of the garage area to 6,400 square feet and allow for maintenance, overnight storage and vehicle repairs, Didia said.

Previously approved was a low bid of some $5,000 for procurement of equipment for the construction projects.

Suddenly it's spring

Spring must really be here because it's wood-cutting time already.

Van Buren Township officials have announced that the Department of Public Works will be chipping brush from April 18 through April 30.

Brush must be no larger than three inches in diameter and include no dead wood. Residents are asked to notify township hall — 699-2001 — when they have their brush placed by the curb or edge of the road.

"Residents may save the chips after the DPW cuts them or we will be happy to haul them away," a DPW spokesman said.

The IRS is waiting...

A reminder to ANP readers! Friday, April 15, is deadline day for filing 1976 income tax forms with the state and federal governments. Saturday, April 30, is deadline filing day with the City of Detroit.

Extension of the filing deadline for the federal Internal Revenue Service for a period of up to 60 days is possible, according to Walter Dunnigan, public affairs officer for the Detroit IRS office.

He said taxpayers wishing an extension of the federal filing deadline should send in IRS Form No. 4868 and a check or money order for "estimated" 1976 taxes. He cautioned that the extension applies only to the deadline and not to the payment of "actual" taxes due.

A check with the Revenue Division, Michigan Department of Treasury, found that the filing extension, if granted under IRS Form No. 4868, also automatically extends the deadline for filing state income tax forms.

Both the federal and state tax agencies emphasize that penalties and interest begin the day after taxes are due on deadline day.

Arbor Day set

"Arbor Day" has been proclaimed by Mayor Justin Emerson for April 29 and 30 in Belleville.

Purpose of the special day is the selling of Colorado blue spruce trees with proceeds going to the purchase of firefighting accessory equipment for the Belleville Fire Department.

Trees eight to 12 inches in height will be sold at one dollar each, with a dozen priced at $10 and 25 for $20.

'Moon Base' project possible for those 640 Romulus acres

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

Two competing developers apparently are on a collision course in their desire to build multi-million dollar complexes on some 600 acres of land in Romulus.

"Conjectural" is the term used by Hyle Carmichael, Romulus industrial coordinator, in assessing proposals made by Century World for a $200 million project and by Space World, Inc. for a $40-50 million "moon" park.

He said the city was approached about six months ago by Donald Cox, president of Century World, in regard to building a complex containing a 400-unit motel, a 900-unit senior citizens building, a nine-hole golf course, a sports arena and a shopping center.

Approximately a month ago, Carmichael said, Dr. Phillip Austin, president of Space World, Livonia, proposed to construct a lunar-oriented park. The simulated moon colony resort would include thrill rides, a space museum, a campground and a moon motel.

Trouble, is, both firms have their eyes on 640 acres of land bounded by I-94, Merriman, Wayne and Henry Ruff roads. Although Cox said his firm has bought 300 acres of the land in question, Carmichael said he is unaware of the purchase.

"As of right now," he commented, "Space World is having a feasibility study made by a California company." He said that in all fairness to Space World, the firm is considering several other sites in Michigan for its complex.

The proposal by Austin's company would include: updated space museum tracing space travel; 90-acre exhibit area with simulated space tours; 45 space-oriented amusement park rides; 750-site campground with tennis courts, retail stores and amphitheater built around a lake; lunar colony resort hotel on 80 acres; people mover and monorail system.

Carmichael said Space World had shown slides to Romulus officials of their anticipated project, but that neither firm has submitted site plans to the city.

Questioned as to current negotiations between the two firms and the City of Romulus, he said, "The next step is up to them."

Huron's meet spawns new Puskar budget

Huron Township residents may have a little wait before Supervisor John Puskar presents his reworked budget for fiscal year 1977-78 to Board Trustees. Last week, a healthy turnout of community residents, voiced stern objections to the two proposals contained in the $920,000 budget, down from the previous year's $1,112,000.

A purpose of the annual Twp. public hearing is for citizens to air their views, resulting in the board throwing out the two proposals after it became evident that the majority was not in favor of their inclusion in the budget.

Taxpayers objected despite a reduction in the budget of $192,000 from last year due to a new procedure to be implemented by Puskar. The supervisor would defer revenue derived from uncollected taxes for the period from December 1977 until March 1978, thereby basing the budget on actual taxes collected during the same fiscal year.

According to Clerk Sandra Rhodes, she had not been notified by Puskar of any plans for presentation of a new budget to the board. However, several budget items will be discussed in detail.

After last week's action, Puskar said he would have to cut expenditures in some budget areas to make up for a total of about $65,000 anticipated from the tax collection and garbage fees.

Romulus plans 8-day 'Michigan Week' gala

Brace yourselves, citizens of Romulus, for the day is close at hand, May 14 to be exact, when the city begins its 1977 celebration of Michigan Week.

Departing from its previous policy of observing Michigan Week with the perennial exchange of mayor, this year Romulus will stage an eight-day gala celebration, with each of the days dedicated to a specific subject.

This year's theme, "Enjoy Michigan Hospitality," will be much in evidence as Romulus residents strive in a variety of ways to show off the good points of the community in which they live.

On the event's first day — Community Pride Day, Saturday, May 14, individuals and groups will, through special projects, essay contests, signs and programs, let everyone know about the city's cultural, sport, educational, religious and community improvement facilities.

Sunday, May 15, will be "Heritage Day" and will include special religious observances, tours of historic points of interest, picnics, recognition of senior citizens and business landmarks and the parading through the streets of horse-drawn and motorized vehicles.

Monday, May 16, or "Government Day," will be highlighted by the exchange of mayors. Mayor James C. Stewart will serve as the top executive in Highland Park, while that city's mayor, Jesse Miller, will assume the government's top spot here.

Emphasis on that day will be making citizens and visitors aware of the workings of their elected officials at all levels of government — city, state and national. Old time city officials will be honored and local governmental programs will be publicized.

Tuesday, May 17, will be "World Trade Day," marked by the focus on Metropolitan Airport and its role as the door through which a vast flow of business, visitors, trade and world-renowned officials pass daily.

Wednesday, May 18, will be designated as "Livelihood Day," with Romulus businesses and industries occupying the limelight. Their role in development of the city and in formulating the lives of its citizens will be stressed in day's activities.

Thursday, May 19, is slated as "Education Day," and will center upon the Romulus school system and the role which education plays in shaping the lives and destinies of those students who will become leaders of tomorrow.

Friday, May 20, will be "Hospitality Day," climaxed by emphasis on the showing of friendship by Romulus residents to each other and to visitors from far and near.

The day will be devoted to get-togethers and the handing out of buttons, banners, prizes, free gifts, food and drink and even free washing of cars. Smiles will be the order of the day.

Saturday, May 21, last day of the 24th annual Michigan Week, will be devoted to youth of the community. The Department of Recreation will stage special outdoor activities, including a street dance, sporting events and other contests.

Sponsored annually by the Greater Michigan Foundation (a nonprofit, charitable, educational foundation), Michigan Week, with the help of thousands of volunteers from throughout the state, aims at three objectives: to teach Michigan citizens more about their own state; to tell people in other states and nations about the many advantages of Michigan; and to work together to make Michigan an even better state.

Sponsors of Michigan Week are urgently in need of financial support from local residents and businesses for the production of a newspaper tabloid depicting the history of Romulus. Interested persons are asked to call the Romulus Hotline, Extension 18, City Hall, by dialing 941-0666.

Support sought for edition of souvenir Roman newspaper

A valuable souvenir edition of the Romulus Roman will be made available to residents prior to the City's celebration of Michigan Week, May 14 - 21, if enough Romulus businesses and industries contribute toward its publication.

The 16-page special insert will highlight the week's festivities, complete with a schedule of each day's planned activities.

Coincidentally, The Romulus Roman is also marking its 92nd year of publication in Romulus, and will include reprints of old papers, a short history of Romulus, background articles honoring outstanding individuals and industries, as well as many other feature stories.

The city needs $2,500 for an extended run of newspapers to be distributed free of charge with all regular subscriptions, as well as in local stores, city hall and other locations around the city.

We need your help: all contributors will be recognized on a separate page, without taking space for individual ads, so that the paper may truly be a collector's item.

Please send all contributions, which are tax deductible to:

New city fire truck sports special engine

Romulus city and fire department officials broke ground Thursday morning for the half-million dollar fire station planned for the south side of Eureka Rd., between Middle Belt and Harrison roads.

Funded by $450,958 in federal money, the fire station ground-breaking follows a similar ceremony held two weeks ago for the new $1 million 34th District Courthouse.

In addition to city and fire officials, various company representatives and firefighters were on hand to watch the first shovelful of dirt being spaded. After the ground breaking, Romulus Fire Chief John Wilhide and Asst. Fire Chief Jim Haislip directed the volunteer firefighters in demonstrating the department's $125,000 custom American LaFrance Fire Pumper which is powered by Detroit Diesel Allison's two millionth 8V-71N

"It's more than a coincidence, of course, that our two-millionth unit was destined for the city of Romulus," Brueck said Thursday. "When we learned you had a fire truck on order with a Detroit Diesel engine, we were able to schedule our production so that the two-millionth engine would stay here as a kind of symbol of the close relationship between Detroit Diesel Allison and Romulus."

'Supercooks'

King Kong is a midget alongside the chicken that's been cooked by Colonel Harland Sanders and his franchisee, Theodore E. Hooten, of Romulus. In the 25 years since the founding of Kentucky Fried Chicken, Hooten and his fellow franchisees have prepared some 45 billion pieces of chicken. Hooten, pictured here with the Colonel's daughter, Mrs. Mildred Ruggles, was among some 2,000 persons from all over the world who joined the Colonel in Las Vegas recently to celebrate the silver anniversary of KFC. Hooten's store in Romulus is part of a 5,800-store system that sells some 800 million meals a year.

Taxpayers can receive 2-month filing extension

Taxpayers can receive an automatic 2-month extension of their tax return filing deadline by filing a Form 4868, an Internal Revenue Service (IRS) spokesman said.

Form 4868, "Application for Automatic Extension of Time to File U.S. Individual Income Tax Return," is available at local IRS offices or can be obtained by filling out the handy order blank for free forms and publications found in the tax package.

For requesting the extension, a taxpayer must make two copies of Form 4868, filing the original with the IRS on or before the due date of the tax return. On this original, the taxpayer must estimate his or her tax bill for the year and enclose full payment for the tax liability.

When the taxpayer later files the actual tax return, the duplicate of Form 4868 must be attached and the amount of tax previously paid entered on the appropriate line of Form 1040. Taxpayers receiving an extension cannot use the Short Form 1040A or have the IRS compute their tax bill, the IRS spokesman said.

If a taxpayer underestimated the tax bill on the Form 4868, he or she may pay interest on the unpaid amount. In addition, if the unpaid amount is more than 10 percent of the total tax bill, the IRS will levy additional penalties on the taxpayers.

U.S. citizens outside the United States or Puerto Rico on the date of their tax deadlines can receive an automatic 2-month extension of the filing deadline without filing Form 4868, the IRS spokesman said. This provision applies to both taxpayers whose deadline is April 15 and taxpayers who file returns on a fiscal year basis. Taxpayers who qualify for this extension must attach a statement to their tax return when they file, stating that they were outside the United States or Puerto Rico on the date of their filing deadline.

Deadline extensions past the 2-month extension date are granted only under unusual circumstances, according to the IRS. Taxpayers can apply for a further extension by letter or by filling out Form 2688, "Application for Extension of Time to File U.S. Individual Income Tax Return". The applicant must include the reasons why the additional extension is necessary.

Requests for an additional extension should be filed early so that the taxpayers will be able to file the return on time should the request for extension be rejected. If this request is denied, the taxpayer must file by the automatic extension due date or within 10 days after the date the IRS denied the request.

Troutt tries again Joins race for mayor's post

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Fireworks are guaranteed in this year's Romulus mayoral race with the announcement that former mayor Terry L. Troutt will run for the city's top job against his bitter rival, incumbent Mayor James Stewart.

Stewart edged Troutt by five votes in a hotly contested election in 1975 and observers see a possible replay of that knock-down, drag-out struggle that has left the city politically divided the past two years.

However, some political observers believe a newcomer to the mayor's race, Councilman William Oakley, has a good chance of becoming the ultimate winner in September's election.

Oakley, who was elected to the Charter Commission when Romulus Township became a city in 1970, has served on the City Council seven years. He reportedly has a strong bloc of support.

Also rumored as possible mayoral candidates are Councilman Jimmie Raspberry and Mayor Pro-Tem Gerry Canejo, the top vote getter in the last election.

Troutt, who in past years has served as mayor of Romulus, 4-term supervisor of Romulus Township and as a Michigan state senator, decided to run for mayor after Councilwoman Beverly McAnally withdrew from the race for personal reasons.

"I was 100 percent behind Bev McAnally and was ready to give all my available time and effort to campaign for her," Troutt said. "I believe she would have made a good mayor for Romulus."

"I am sorry she decided not to run. When she told me of her decision, she and her supporters asked if I would run."

In making her decision not to run, Mrs. McAnally told her supporters during a meeting that because of personal reasons and circumstances beyond her control, it would be impossible for her to run for mayor.

"We prevailed upon former Mayor Terry Troutt to run because he is the most qualified person in Romulus for the job and has done so much for our city and the people in the past," Mrs. McAnally said.

Mrs. McAnally, who is finishing the last year of her second consecutive council term, had looked forward to running for mayor with great anticipation before bowing out.

"I believe I could have run a strong race and been successful, but I must do what is best for my family and myself," she said. "The mayor's job is more than a full-time job. Giving proper considerations to my own personal responsibilities, I realize I cannot do justice to both."

However she said, she could continue as a councilperson with no difficulty.

Troutt said he agreed to be a candidate after a meeting with McAnally and her supporters.

"I had been thinking about running, but when McAnally announced her candidacy, I decided to support her all the way in the campaign because she has done such an excellent job on the City Council and showed the right kind of leadership," Troutt said. "Now that she has withdrawn because of personal reasons, I am willing to be considered as a candidate with McAnally running for the seat on the City Council on the Troutt team."

The former mayor added that he would run with a full slate of nine candidates, including those for City Council, city treasurer and city clerk.

"We plan to meet tomorrow night and make final decisions on our team's choice for treasurer and clerk and will choose our council candidates after April 16," he explained. "We're trying to put together the best team."

"We've seen what division can do to our city. Just look at the City Council, everyone goes his own way and the mayor goes another. We need unity and we believe we can provide it with our team effort."

"Running with other candidates as a team, we would have better cooperation and be better able to accomplish more for the city than the candidates not committed to one another in cooperative team work. McAnally and I agree on that 100 percent."

Pledging complete support to Troutt, Mrs. McAnally said she would run on the Troutt team and help to devise a platform that would set the city on a course of progress and help keep down taxes.

"The City of Romulus enjoyed much progress under Troutt's philosophy of team work when Troutt was elected mayor in 1973," Mrs. McAnally said. "I was mayor pro-tem at the time. We had an efficient and smooth-running administration that cooperated with the City Council and the people."

"We had many good results under Troutt's leadership, including the biggest recreation and parks development in the history of the city."

"Now that I am not going to run, there is no one I would rather see as mayor than Terry Troutt, because of his fine record in the service of Romulus and the people."

ANP marks Roman's 92nd service years

Nearly a century of publication in their respective communities by The Belleville Enterprise and The Romulus Roman is being celebrated by Associated Newspapers Inc.

A birthday party, complete with cake and refreshments was held by ANP's editorial and advertising staffs, to celebrate 92 years of serving readers in the cities of Belleville and Romulus and the townships of Sumpter and Van Buren and more recently Huron.

The Enterprise and The Roman began publication in 1886 as separate weeklies, but then merged as one publication in 1939. Both newspapers came under the wing of ANP in the early 1940s, continuing to serve community readers as one publication until about 1970 when they were split into two separate editions.

Local office for the two publications is located at 405 Main St., Belleville, with the main business office located at ANP headquarters, 35540 Michigan Avenue, Wayne.

If longevity statistics of today are reasonably accurate, there are few residents of either community alive today who can remember when both newspapers first opened their doors to the reading public.

ANP is proud of the community respect earned over the years by The Enterprise and The Roman and pledges to continue in the same tradition of reporting the news objectively as it happens.

REA pickets show concern

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus School Supt. James Garfield and the school board Monday night were greeted by 35 teachers, carrying picket signs reading: "Teachers are concerned — are you?"

The teachers were peacefully demonstrating their concern at the regular board meeting over possible cuts in classes, according to Romulus Education Association (REA) President Terry Bird.

"It was a very friendly picket line," Garfield agreed. "We're all in a difficult situation with the millage defeats and shortage of money in the school district. And we're trying to work with the teachers the best we can."

Bird, who is serving his second term as president of the teacher's union, was happy that the board in a 90-minute closed meeting voted to resume negotiations with the teachers over salaries.

Although the millage defeat March 19 left a more dismal outlook, the school board has taken the position to talk with teachers about raising their salaries, even though they are not sure where the extra money will come from.

The board also voted Monday to authorize putting the 5-year, 8-mill proposal on the ballot June 13.

"Naturally we were disappointed by the millage defeat last month," Garfield said. "But we were gratified that so many people voted in the election."

Bird, along with about 60 other teachers, attended the meeting to express what he calls "our major concerns."

"In addressing the board during the audience participation time at the beginning of the meeting, Bird said: 'Our purpose is to bring to the board's attention our concern relative to instructional programs for students and a responsible economic position towards teachers.'

"Members of the board have all received a full education and we feel the 6,650 students in Romulus should have that opportunity also."

Bird pointed out that any financial cuts should come outside the instructional areas.

He was happy with the board's decision to go ahead with teacher negotiations.

"I'm cautiously optimistic, but we'll have to wait and assess the action the board takes," he said. "But I feel we've been very patient and hope the board will be understanding of our position."

"We especially kept our presence at the meeting on a 'low-key' basis. We realize we're all working under a difficult situation and are trying to make the best of it."

In other action, school board president Carl Morris announced the board had voted a 1-mill tax reduction in the 1977-78 summer levy from 34 mills to 33 mills. The 1-mill reduction will be in the area of debt retirement.

At the close of the meeting, Romulus High School varsity baseball coach Dennis Stoh presented a check for $3,400 to fund the entire baseball season and half the varsity track program. All the money was raised by the students, teachers and parents in fund-raising activities.

Ping-pong anyone?

A 2-day singles and doubles table tennis tournament for participants 15 years of age and older will be held April 28-29 at North Junior High School, located at 37300 Wick Road in Romulus.

Sponsored by the Romulus Recreation Department, the meet will be staged under rules and regulations of the U.S. Table Tennis Association using a single-elimination format.

An entry fee of $1.50 per person will be charged to cover cost of trophies for first place in singles and doubles competition.

Entry forms and player schedules are available at the recreation office, 36515 Bibbins St., Romulus.

Parents plan battle strategy for eliminating child abuse

The abused child has been a law enforcement problem in nearly every society.

But society has been handcuffed in its struggle to stop this horrendous crime because many child abuse cases don't reach police files, and when they do it's usually too late.

Now, St. Aloysius Church has joined the fight against abused children.

Ring judge will speak at meeting

Noted horseman Keith Forbush, will address members of the Romulus Horsemen's Association, Inc. next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Room of the Romulus City Hall.

Forbush, who will speak on preparing horses for the show ring, serves as an official judge for American quarter horses. He is a past president of the Michigan Quarter Horse Association and organizational leader of the Rouge Valley 4-H Club.

Recently, he was honored for 30 years of helping youngsters in 4-H club activities.

At 7:30 p.m. Monday at St. Aloysius School, the PTG, Christian Education Commission and Christian Service Commission will present a program dealing with child abuse.

St. Aloysius is located at 37200 Neville in Romulus.

The group will show slides of actual cases of abused children and also distribute posters depicting children who have been abused by their parents.

"We feel we must work together to eliminate this problem," said Michael Gresock, chairman of the Christian Education Commission at St. Aloysius. "During our research we discovered — and most people won't believe this — that there is approximately 1 million children who are abused or neglected each year and approximately 5,000 of these die in the United States alone."

"This is the tragic picture of what is happening to many of our children in this country today," Gresock added.

Gresock said the church and other organizations are sponsoring a petition drive to get more federal support to fight the crime.

"We are going to send these petitions to the President," Gresock said, "in hopes that we can get a more extensive program, better and specific facilities to aid parents and children."

"Social agencies deal with abusers and their victims after the damage has been done," Gresock added, "and the police step in when it's far too late."

"Our only hope is to attack the source at its roots — the family — giving parents the necessary help

Volunteers sought for riding program

The Wayne County 4-H Handicapped Riding Program needs volunteers to work with handicapped children and horses.

The volunteers would donate an hour or two a week on a ranch in Romulus.

The handicapper's riding program is designed to provide the setting to build self-confidence and awareness of one's ability, according to Gwen Papin, the club's secretary.

"I really enjoy working with these kids so much and seeing the emotional and physical benefits the riding lessons give them," Miss Papin said.

The program also is based on the ideas that when a handicapper before abuse occurs and our only vehicle is through education," Gresock concluded.

Gresock pointed out that "according to the federal government, child abuse and neglect now is an epidemic in this country," and "we must tackle the problem now."

masters a skill that other "normal" people have — and not too many at that — it must result in positive change and growth.

The project was launched in the fall of 1976 when a 9-week pilot program, 4-H Handicapped Riding, took place at the Circle R Ranch in Romulus. Twenty-five students participated, 12 from Huff High in Lincoln Park, and others referred from the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Detroit.

These students receive 1½ to two hours of instruction on and off the horse, and all 25 riders wanted to come back the following spring.

If you wish to volunteer your time, please contact Myra McInerney at the 4-H office at 721-6576.

When it's cold

One of the most fascinating items in Marshall Wied's Winter Survival class at Belleville High School is this water sampler being examined by these four students. It can take samples of water from any depth in the lake during tests and also the amount of oxygen. Looking at the water sampler are Dan Pavelka (from left) Guri Slagsvold, Ed Dunayczan and Kim Clay. Kim holds a Zooplankton, a trap that captures small animals at the bottom of the animal food chain on which all other animals depend.

Survival class offers look at 'beating' Mother Nature

Although the bright beams of sunshine brings a warming glow to these spring mornings, it wasn't very long ago that Marshal Wied's survival class was learning how to cope with winter at Belleville High School.

And the students still are excited and impressed with what they learned about dealing with the devastating effects of cold weather. "I feel very fortunate in having been able to take ecology in my sophomore year," said Liz Stapleton, "It has helped me to understand today's ecological problems and the many ways of dealing with them."

"Also, I'm much more aware of natural surroundings that I once took for granted."

Senior Linda Gephart agreed. "I don't really think that I'll ever be in a survival situation, but I guess no one does," Linda philosophized. "I do feel better knowing all the survival techniques and it definitely was a worthwhile part of the course."

Sue Bowles, an 11th grader, summed it up succinctly: "Winter ecology was really a learning experience. If I'm ever stranded in a snow bank, I'll know exactly what to do."

"I've learned some very valuable information from the class," said senior Kelly Byrnes. "Most of the information intertwines like what clothing would be best to wear in cold weather. Wool would be the best to be wearing, if I were to fall through the ice, but I wouldn't break through the ice because now I know something about ice safety."

Martinis Thompkins found the ecology courses a delightful and helpful experience.

"I feel the ecology course at Belleville High is one of the nicest things about the school," said the 11th grader. "It gives a student a chance to look at the world in ways you've never looked at it before."

"Both courses, fall and winter survival, are very well planned. The winter survival course includes first aid and what to do under survival conditions. I think this course could even be made a required class because of all the helpful knowledge involved."

Eleventh grader Dee Dee Kalasz added: "I learned different ways to survive in severe conditions, such as different types of food to look for and what kind to look for."

Jeff Goins, 12th grade, had a different slant.

"The true value of Mr. Wied's class is that it not only benefits the outdoors type person, but also the people that don't particularly care for winter or the snow," he said.

Senior Keith Williams summed it up simply: "The survival skills taught in Ecology instill a feeling of security in a person so that he may enjoy the outdoors more fully."

Sophomore Alan Hardy feels he has learned things that will help him in later life. "What I learned in winter survival I'm sure will be helpful to me in the future," he pointed out. "Learning to make snow shelters and learning about winter wild edible plants can help me and anyone to survive in the winter wild. Also, learning about the proper clothing to wear, I'm sure will help."

Ed Paris, 11th grade, probably put it as well as anyone when he said: "In Ecology, I've learned things that one should know if they enjoy the out-of-doors. Things that can and will save your life such as building shelters and fires, knowing edible plants and first-aid and many other things."

"And the best part of it is learning to 'use' the land and what it has to offer and still preserving its beauty."

The students have finished the winter survival course and now turn to urban ecology (ecology of the city) and animal behavior. If it's anything like the winter survival class, the students should find it very exciting.

BHS students get glimpse at tomorrow at Career Day

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP STAFF Writer

Belleville High School students enjoyed their classes more one Wednesday than any other day of the year.

Not only because they got to choose their own subjects, but also because they got a glimpse of their "tomorrow" today.

It was the annual Career Day and more than 140 local and other business and professional people were on hand to give students an inside look at the vocation they may choose to pursue in life.

"I believe it was the most successful Career Day we've ever had at Belleville High School," said student counselor Joe Zelinske, who coordinated the event along with Fay Davis, a local parent. "There was an unusual amount of interest in sessions teaching about the armed forces and Air Force Academy. They were very well attended."

Of the 1,750 high school students the highest number attended courses dealing with college. Some 248 sat in on those sessions, learning from 18 college representatives what it will cost to attend college, things to look for and courses to study for their particular field.

Next highest number - 180 - heard a wide-ranging series of discourses from local businessmen, Van Buren Twp. and Belleville police, clergymen, builders, funeral directors and optometrists as well as from government officials and service corps people.

Zelinske cited Lynne Hamilton, a local hardware man whose business just celebrated 50 years of service, and Dr. Richase Muse, a Belleville optometrist, as two local businessmen who helped out.

Flying held high interest for the third largest audience with 146 attending a workshop conducted by Allegheny Airlines. The speaker discussed conditions employees work under, how to prepare for an airlines career and the future of the industry.

What's it like?

More than 140 representatives from business, education and professional occupations spoke to Belleville High School Students at Career Day recently. A high degree of interest was shown in law enforcement on the local, state and national levels, and Sgt. Willard Dockter of the Belleville Police Department discussed law enforcement with one group of interested youths.

Almost as many students studied professional modeling. Sitting in on this class were 135 students.

"Quite a few boys and girls really would like to make this a full-time career," Zelinske said.

Computer graphics enthralled 114 viewers. Dr. Jerald Griess, an Eastern Michigan University professor, and Belleville High School graduate Gary VanBuhler demonstrated the telegraphic device. The computer had a terminal tied into EMU's machines through the school's telephone lines which programmed pictures for the students to watch.

"It was truly fascinating," according to Zelinske.

A similar class, Computer Programming, was taught by Darrell G. Hall from Detroit Diesel Allison. He taught how to program through a computer, how it works and prerequisites of getting into the profession.

Other well-attend courses, according to Zelinske, were forestry and conservation, natural resources, oceanography and FBI work.

Linda Sorbo of University of Michigan taught on forestry and conservation, while Edward Pike, also of U-M, described work in natural resources.

Stand by...more Pay Board increases, coming soon

In the spring, a young man's fancy turns to love. A young woman's fancy turns to young men, and a politician's fancy turns to his appointed compensations Commission.

The beleaguered electorate of our area, after surviving the first round of this 7-round fight (Wayne, Westland, Canton, Romulus, Belleville, Sumpter and Van Buren), have now turned their attention to the remaining 6-rounds.

With the announcement last week that the Van Buren elected officials had lost their latest bid for pay increases because of a legal technicality, Associated Newspapers will now focus their attention on the other elected officials in those other communities that will shortly be hearing the recommendations of their pay boards regarding the size of proposed pay increases in those communities.

In a survey of surrounding communities conducted by this newspaper, it was learned that pay boards (Compensation Commissions) have already started deliberations on pay increases for elected officials in Canton Township where the first meeting of that board witnessed its members attempts to figure out just what they were suppose to do — Westland, where the pay board members are appointed to 8-year terms, and have much experience with the struggle to set 'just' salaries for 'just' people-Wayne, where the board is expected to hold their first meeting in the next two months — and Romulus, with scheduled pay board meetings set for May.

Since it is apparent that our dedicated elected officials have now made a firm commitment to the principle of Compensation Commissions, we feel it is time for the people who must pick up the tab, to make a firm commitment to showing them the error of their ways.

For those of you who have not been initiated to the concept of pay boards, or compensation commissions, a brief history may be in order.

Your elected officials decided several years ago that they would have to come up with a better idea regarding the sticky problem associated with their voting on the public record, for their own pay increases.

Agonizing over the problem for several years, our elected officials finally struck on the perfect answer. If they did not have to vote for a pay increase, they would not have to stand accused of voting for their own salary increases, very simple.

The vehicle for this unique plan was to be the Compensation Commission. This commission would be appointed by the administrative branch of government, with the approval of the legislative branch. The avowed purpose of this commission would be to provide a group of unbiased citizens with the sole responsibility for determining the future salaries of elected officials, thus removing that responsibility from themselves.

After studying the current situation regarding prevailing salaries for comparable positions of like responsibility, the commission would recommend to the legislative branch of government, salaries which they felt to be proper for degree of responsibility.

Now here is the punch line. The recommendations of these compensation commissions would not have to be voted on to become effective. As a matter of fact, the recommended pay increases would take effect automatically. UNLESS YOUR ELECTED OFFICIAL VOTED AGAINST IT WITH A TWO THIRDS MAJORITY.

Enter, Age of the non-decision.

By not voting or taking any position, our elected officials could now publicly ignore the entire question of pay increases, and if attacked by their constituents, could simply state that increases were the result of action by the compensation commission, and beyond their control.

They had now received their pay increase and had not risked one hair on their political heads in the process.

Associated Newspapers feels that the principle of compensation commissions is an affront to the citizens of those communities who must pay the bill, without an opportunity off assessing responsibility for those pay increases.

Harry S. Truman once stated that, "The buck stops here," and that, "If you can't stand the heat you should get out of the kitchen." As usual we agree with Harry.

Amid the claims of bringing government back to the people, and ending the excesses committed by government, our elected officials have in effect now stated that, "The buck stops somewhere else, and the compensation commission ice man will be along soon to cool the kitchen."

It is time for elected officials to cast aside the protective cover of the pay board voluntarily, or the citizens will be required to encourage them to do so.

While it is certainly true that one of the most basic problems faced by our elected officials is the difficulty of standing before their constituents and saying, "I am worth more money," but public officials should remember that the final decision on any issue must ultimately rest with the people.

Like it or not, Harold Stein, Justine Barns, Paul Lada, Pat Cullin, Jim Stewart and Robert Demski, that is the way that Tom Jefferson wanted it, that's the way Harry Truman wanted it, and that is the way the people want it. Can you afford to provide less?

Burial in a wine rack?

By Rev. Lester Kinsolving

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Grace is a widow now living in Maryland on Social Security.

When her husband Dan died, she sought to avoid the ghoulis and shockingly expensive excesses detailed by Jessica Mitford in her book "The American Way Of Death" by having a cremation and a memorial service.

Two bids were obtained: $500 plus $85 for cremation — with the other bid at $610.

Appalled at the principle of paying $500 for merely transporting the body, Grace contacted the St. Francis Burial Society at 3421 Center St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20010. There are similar societies throughout the nation.

One of the leaders of the Washington society, the Rev. Robert Herzog, helped her to be her own funeral director — and to bypass a dozen barriers which benefit the funeral director industry.

The Rev. Mr. Herzog, a secularly employed Episcopal minister, put her in contact with a nearby cooperative crematory at Ft. Lincoln Cemetery, which charged $85 for the cremation.

But cemetery regulations required a leak-proof body bag — which five funeral homes refused to sell her. After a wholesaler of body bags agreed to such a sale, there was the problem of transporting the body.

Funeral homes refused hearses. Ambulance companies refused on the totally false contention that "It's against the law to carry bodies across a county line."

So Grace decided to transport the body in a station wagon — with a borrowed coffin in lieu of stretcher.

'The coffin can be used initially as a wine rack, bar, bookshelf, blanket chest or coffee table.'

St. Francis Burial Society offers either rectangular or traditional (mummy-shaped) pine box coffins at $160-185 — or all the material to assemble your own, for $95. It can even supply designs whereby the coffin can be used initially as a wine rack, bar, bookshelf, blanket chest or coffee table.

At the hospital where Dan died, the authorities were horrified at the idea of amateur funeral directing and refused to release the body for 36 hours — until nudged by legal counsel from the burial society.

The Maryland Department of Vital Statistics was similarly — and extra-legally — reluctant regarding the death certificate, and who would file it.

"Your funeral director does that — it's required by law," they replied.

There ensued another legal counsel nudge, plus the high-pitched tone of an aggrieved but not cowed widow, assisted by a clergyman and officer of this burial society.

The state official withdrew his "You-can't-do-it" contention, and informed Grace that she could, after all, sign the death certificate's designation of funeral director, and mail it within three days after it was received.

The entire cost of Dan's cremation and interment amounted to $235 — which was paid by Social Security.

Membership in St. Francis Burial Society is $12 per year. Among those who have procured the society's simple pine box coffins: the late Jenny Moore, wife of the Episcopal Bishop of New York and Sen. Philip Hart (D-Mich.).

Easter Sunday is the most wonderful day of the year. And Sunday morning was especially beautiful with the sun streaming down in glorious brilliance, bathing the landscape in a warm glow as we drove to church. The joy and hope of the Christian faith rests upon the glorious resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead.

Because He lives, we, too, shall live.

There are many irrefutable proofs of Christ's bodily resurrection. Because Christ arose from the grave — victor over death, sin, hell and the grave — all true believers in Him will one day also discard their death robes and rise to be with Him.

Scripture states that the angel of the Lord told the two inquiring women at the tomb, "Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here: for he is risen, as he said." (St. Matthew 28:5, 6).

"He is risen, as he said," What Glorious words! What victorious words!

Martin Luther wrote:

"In the bonds of Death He lay
Who for our defense was slain;
But the Lord is risen today.
Christ hath brought us life again,
Wherefore let us all rejoice,
Singing loud, with cheerful voice.
Hallelujah!

The Apostle Paul in his first epistle to the church at Corinth writes in the 15th chapter: "Moreover, brethren, I declare unto you the gospel which I preached unto you and wherein ye stand...For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the Scriptures."

There in a nutshell is the gospel — the death, burial and resurrection of Jesus Christ. He "died for our sins" ... "rose again the third day" for our justification. The great Methodist hymn writer Charles Wesley penned:

"Christ the Lord is risen today,
Sons of men and angels say: our joys and Raise your joys and triumphs high,
Sing, ye heavens, and earth reply.
Lives again our glorious King:
Where, O Death, is now thy sting?
Once He died, our souls to save:
Where thy victory, O Grave?"

Some doubt that Christ rose from the grave, trying to explain away the resurrection by the so-called "swoon" theory. This idea holds that Christ merely passed out and the cool air of the tomb revived Him and He walked out. The Bible clearly says, "Christ died for our sins." Jesus Himself testified, "I am He that liveth, and was dead." (Revelation 1:18).

Paul lists six heart-rending facts in I Corinthians 15:14-19, if Christ didn't leave the tomb.

If Christ be not risen, then:

1. Preaching is vain (verse 14).
2. Faith is vain (verse 14).
3. Christians are false witnesses (verse 15).
4. We are still in our sins (verse 17).
5. They who have fallen asleep have perished (verse 18).
6. "We are of all men most miserable." (verse 19).

But the Apostle Paul sums up this whole question with the great climax, "But now is Christ risen from the dead!" (verse 20). Because He lives, we too shall live!

All sinners who have placed their faith and trust in the death, burial and resurrection of Christ for their salvation will one day split yonder sky at the "trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: Then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words." (I Thess. 4:16-18).

Henry H. Barstow poetically discards all doubt with these words:

"If Easter be not true,
"Twere foolishness the cross to bear;
He died in vain who suffered there;
What matter though we laugh or cry,
Be good or evil, live or die,
If Easter be not true?
If Easter be not true —
But it is true, and Christ is risen!
And mortal spirit from its prison
Of sin and death with him may rise!
Worthwhile the struggle, sure the prize,
Since Easter, aye, is true!

Health Beat

Costs, everybody's problem

By RUSS TUTTLE
Director, Community Relations
Peoples Community Hospital Authority

As we have suggested, in this series of articles on the costs of delivering quality health care, the hospital industry stands alone as the most regulated and controlled enterprise in the country.

The Secretary of HEW, Joseph A. Califano, Jr., recently told reporters that "... in health, we have no more urgent priority than to deal with runaway health costs..."

While we might question Califano's use of the inflammatory verb 'runaway', we will agree that the question of costs must be addressed. And, we would suggest that perhaps it is the Federal Government which ought to take the first look at its own policies.

Frank Gentry, President of the Kansas Hospital Association asks a most penetrating question: "How can hospitals continue to provide high-quality patient care when the price of goods and services hospitals must purchase continues to rise unabated?"

A spokesman for the Minnesota Hospital Association continued along the same line by saying, "Government has the responsibility to stop creating increased demand before it begins denying payment for the services required to satisfy that demand."

We agree completely with these health care professionals, and indeed we have asked the same questions of ourselves on more than one occasion.

If the philosophy and law of the land demand health care for every citizen as an inherent right of citizenship, then all we can do is ask that we be supplied the tools necessary to accomplish that which is demanded.

But it is categorically impossible to provide additional services without additional monies. And it is the Government which proposes to institute artificial cost controls in the form of caps on reimbursement.

The Chicago Daily News said editorially that, "controls on hospital charges are no more likely to solve the problem (of increasing hospital costs) than controls on the price of natural gas are solving that problem ... indeed, they are likely to bring about the same result; inadequate prices can only buy an inadequate product, in quality or quantity."

'There is no free lunch'

At this point it is perhaps time to make a frank statement: yes, health care costs have gone up, and until the costs of goods and services are brought under control, hospital costs will go up some more.

From time to time — generally around election time — we hear of different proposals for some type of national health insurance which, it is suggested, will be the panacea. Perhaps. But new questions must be raised. Who is going to pay for this program? And don't be deluded by pie-in-the-sky promises. A national health insurance package will cost billions of dollars to a government which is already mortgaged to the hilt of the Second Coming!

We don't want our thinking to sound Neanderthal, but this point must be stressed: Federal programs are not free — they cost money, sometimes more money in terms of administration than they are worth. Or, to put it in the venacular of today, "There is no free lunch."

When some learn that the room rate at PCHA hospitals will be $106 per day (effective May 5 this year) they express dismay and say that you can get a room in an outstanding luxury hotel for that kind of money. Indeed you can. But the analogy, as is the case in so many analogies, is much like trying to put the square peg in the round hole.

There are close to 200 job descriptions in our hospitals. These are people, many of whom you will never see, who in some way affect the quality of your care while you are a patient. The most visible professionals are your bedside nurses who are in attendance 24 hours a day, seven days a week. And there are LPN's, aides, maids and porters, housekeepers, maintenance people, dietary workers, business office personnel, social workers, physical therapists and occupational therapists, laboratory technicians and experts in nuclear medicine, anesthetists and personnel, carpenters and painters, and the list goes on.

These people are employed to serve you during your time of illness. But, and it's beginning to sound like an echo chamber, these people must be paid for their labor just as any one else is paid for theirs.

According to Ronald G. Czarneke, Administrator of Annapolis Hospital, the hospital industry is "unusual in that constant breakthroughs and innovations in the various disciplines comprising the industry create an increase in the incidence of service rendered."

"It is possible," he continued, "to reduce costs by reducing services — an approach which would not long be tolerated by our communities."

PCHA has done a remarkable job of containing costs in its hospitals — a fact which has been applauded more than once in newspaper editorials.

And the principal reason for this success has to be the members of the Board of Directors.

Our Board is comprised of laypeople, many of whom are elected or appointed officials in their home communities. But, membership on the PCHA Board is not a political asset; indeed, it may be considered by some to be just the opposite.

However, because the Board is able to make their decisions on the bases of sound business judgments (and not on the bases of pragmatic political considerations) the PCHA continues to enjoy a position of high regard in the health care delivery community.

We are able to maintain a break-even financial posture, pay competitive wages and salaries, provide good fringe benefits, and deliver quality health care — and we do these things with one of the lowest charge schedules in Southeastern Michigan.

For a tag line we'll say one more time (and promise not to mention it again for a while!), that until our costs for goods and services are controlled, it is impossible for us, if we are to maintain our facilities — as consumers demand we maintain them — to lower our charges.

About V.B. pay increase attempts

To the Editor:
First, let me note that I do not have an ax to grind with the elected officials of Van Buren Township, as I voted for some of the officials affected by the proposed controversial pay raises.

The issue of a pay raise for the Van Buren Township officers after an election for the already established salary is not whether the proposed increases in pay are deserved or even reasonable; the issue is of a moral and ethical tone.

The officials campaigned for the offices at the already promulgated salaries, their immediate pay increases are not justified based on work experience, new education or expertise gained since taking office, and certainly not due to Divine guidance.

The elected officials during this term should not receive compensation beyond the quoted salary for which they were elected, except for possibly (upon voter approval) a cost of living adjustment effective the first of each year beginning in 1978.

I am aware that many people will argue that a larger pay scale will attract better or more competent candidates for the elected offices. Certainly this issue has some validity. However, the current officials were elected based on the competition for the offices at the 1976 salary level.

Significant increases in pay would most likely have attracted other candidates for the offices and it is unfair to increase the salary after the election.

It is my belief that a "real" non-biased commission or panel of Van Buren Township residents or a general election should be held to determine if the voters of Van Buren Township are willing to increase the salaries, effective with the next election for each office.

C.W. Johnson

Why don't you volunteer!

Dear Editor,
There has been a lot of criticism about the recommended appointments on the officials Pay Commission but I was asked and heard others were asked to serve who also refused.

I, like others, couldn't add anymore meetings to my weekly routine. Most of us have two people in the family who are working to make ends meet. We are keeping up our house, involved in our childrens activities and some adult activity.

I feel the people on that Commission spent precious free time concerned about trying to serve their community. Mr. Gollwitzer, Mrs. Farr, Ms Premo, "lobbied" into doing an unfair or unconcerned task.

If you have available time to serve your community why don't you send your name to the Township Board for further appointments.

I'm also a little tired of the way past losing candidates twist every action of the people (whether they are appointees or elected officials) who try to work for our community into some thing evil.

If you ask me, it is they who are self-motivated for the next election of themselves or their favorite candidate.

Your paper is a bargain

Mr. Dennis Fassett, Managing Editor:
Happy Easter to you and your staff!
May I say that under your management The Wayne Eagle is getting bigger and bigger in news and size and as an avid Eagle reader may I congratulate all the writers and reporters for excellent columns.

In fact I received a letter from Russ Tuttle who said its gratifying to learn that there are people who take the time to read my column.

Joan Hines, Classified Advertising Manager, ads don't cost they pay. A neighbor said she received 20 calls from her ad. Nice.

Going on to say, The Wayne Eagle is a product and a bargain that hurries you into a store.

A challenge when editorials stir one into action.

Traffic signals coming for I-275

Honorable Edward Mahalak
Michigan State Representative
State Capitol
Lansing, Michigan 48933

Dear Representative Mahalak:
We are taking this opportunity to advise you of the department's study results concerning the need for traffic signals for the intersections of I-275 off-ramps at M-14 (Ann Arbor Road), M-153 (Ford Road), and at US-12 (Michigan Avenue). As you may recall, Commissioner Royce E. Smith of Wayne County contacted you on this subject.

Our studies consisted of comprehensive traffic engineering surveys and field reviews by engineers from this office and our district office. The survey data included vehicle volumes, turning patterns, available gaps along Ford and Ann Arbor Roads, Michigan Avenue, and a measure of the delay experienced by motorists on the ramps.

The most significant piece of data obtained in these surveys showed extensive backups on the southbound ramps at M-153 (Ford Road), at US-12 (Michigan Avenue), and lesser backups on both ramps at M-14 (Ann Arbor Road). The northbound off-ramp at M-153 (Ford Road) and at US-12 (Michigan Avenue) showed much less problem than the other off-ramps and lower associated volumes.

Based on this data and our analyses, we are recommending signals be installed at both I-275 off-ramps at M-14 (Ann Arbor Road), the I-275 southbound off-ramps at M-153 (Ford Road), and at US-12 (Michigan Avenue). Also based on this data, we are not recommending signalization for the northbound off-ramps at M-153 (Ford Road) and at US-12 (Michigan Avenue). As we noted in earlier correspondence with you, we have proceeded with the preliminary engineering on a priority basis at these locations. We are now authorizing the Wayne County Road Commission, our contract agency, to install these signals.

Thank you for your interest in these matters. If we can be of further service, please feel free to call on us.

Workmen's Compensation

By THOMAS H. BROWN
State Representative
37th District

Workers' Compensation is an income-maintenance program that limits the liability of employers while protecting workers who are disabled and suffer a loss of income due to a work-related accident or disability.

In addition to weekly income benefits, medical and rehabilitation services are provided as well as burial and weekly survivors' benefits to dependents of deceased Workers' Compensation claimants.

Workers Compensation is not a welfare program in that there is no 'means' test, but rather, a disabled worker is entitled to benefits by virtue of having earned a living and being disabled in the course of earning that living.

Benefits are financed by the employer who insures himself against loss through a private workers' compensation insurance policy or through a self-insurance program.

Workers' Compensation is a no-fault system in concept, providing adequate benefits without proof of fault in exchange for limiting the employer's liability (by barring expensive court settlements).

Unfortunately the simplicity, adequacy, equity, and dignity of the original Workers' Compensation statutes of the early 1900's has been thwarted by the complexity of society and the improved standard of living in the 1960's and 70's; the present Workers' Compensation system is choked with costly, complicated litigation that delays justice for employers and employee alike: benefits have not kept pace with wages; the employer is held liable for diseases that are caused by the environment as well as occupational factors; and the disabled worker and his family lose dignity in turning to welfare or selling hard-earned possessions to supplement inadequate or delayed benefits.

The National Advisory Commission on State Workmen's Compensation laws concluded in their 1972 report that state Workers' Compensation programs (including Michigan's) were clearly inadequate.

That commission made 84 specific recommendations, of which 19 were considered essential, for improvement of the state programs and urged adoption of those 19 changes by mid-

1975. If the states did not act, the Commission urged Congress to consider the possibility of federalization of Workers' Compensation. (Michigan did, and still does comply with only 12 of the 19 essential recommendations while the average compliance for all states was 11.8 in July, 1976.)

In response to the National Commission, the Governor appointed an advisory commission in March, 1974, to study Michigan's law and recommend improvements to meet the recommendations.

The last major revision of the Act was 1965, when the present benefit structure was created. Despite the on-going study, over 30 bills dealing with Workers' Compensation were introduced in the 1975 session.

The report of the state commission in August of 1975 is indicative of the situation in Michigan, "...the Workmen's Compensation Advisory Commission has been unable to reach agreement upon a comprehensive set of recommendations for the improvement of workmen's compensation in Michigan. Every effort was made, but the obstacles were insurmountable."

Despite intensive negotiations, no agreement was reached by the holidays and the hope for Workers' Compensation legislation that would take effect in 1976 failed. All parties did agree that any Workers' Compensation change should be broad enough to address all of the existing major problems.

There was also agreement on basic concepts in the major controversial areas but when it came to fitting specific changes within limited cost parameters while making all the necessary reforms, the pieces did not fall into place.

The crux of the problem became a difficult trade-off between equity and cost. With the roughly $510 million 1975 system cost (including weekly compensation and medical benefits of $300 million, plus other related costs) business adamantly opposed cost increases while equity

As of the beginning of March, 1977, no major workers compensation proposals had been introduced in anticipation of an agreement being reached in the talks that were resumed in January. Although there are a number of problems with the present Workers' Compensation law and the system that administers it, there are only a few fundamental, major issues:

BENEFIT LEVELS

One of the major issue areas relates to the benefits provided. Currently the law provides disabled workers or their dependents benefits equal to two-thirds of their wage loss, and totally disabled workers with two-thirds of their previous average weekly wage.

However, the law also sets maximums on the amount of compensation that can be received. Maximum allowable benefits often keep the proportion of wage replacement below two-thirds and this is true in three-fourths of all cases of injured workers in Michigan.

Additionally, benefits under the present law are also limited according to dependency classes, i.e., the maximum benefit available in 1977 to a single worker with no dependents is $127, while a worker with 5 or more dependents can get a maximum of $156, even though the injured workers may have earned the exact same wage. (Since Workers' Compensation is an income maintenance program it may more logically be related to former income instead of need.)

The National Commission recommended that those benefits at less than two-thirds the previous wage be increased by relating the maximum benefit to the State Average Weekly Wage (SAWW).

Specifically, the recommendation was that the maximum benefit be equal to sixty-six and two-thirds percent of the SAWW the first year (Michigan does not even meet this standard completely); 100 percent by 1975; one-hundred-thirty-three and one-third percent by 1977; one-hundred-sixty-six and two-thirds percent by 1979; and 200 percent by 1981. It is important to remember here that these standards apply to the maximum benefit amount allowed and should not be confused with the two-thirds wage replacement.

The 'Open Meetings Act' in Romulus

LEONARD J. FOLMAR
Romulus City Clerk

On March 31, 1977, Public Act 267 - The Open Meetings Act - or so-called "Sunshine Law" became effective for all cities, villages and townships throughout the State of Michigan.

The major provisions and consequences of this law were carefully explained by the Romulus Roman in an editorial and separate informative article, prior to its effective date. For their timely and thoughtful publication, the Roman deserves our thanks.

As Romulus City Clerk, I am taking steps to insure that all boards and commissions of our City are properly informed of their obligations under the act with regard to informing the general public of all meetings.

This includes the Police, Fire and Safety Commission, the Recreation Board, the Building Authority, Planning Commission, the Board of Appeals, Housing Commission and the Board of Review.

Of course, there are certain exceptions to the "open" provision, namely, personnel cases involving public employees, negotiating sessions for collective bargaining, consideration of the purchase or lease of real property, consultations with legal counsel, review of applications for a public office and consideration of material exempt from discussion by state or federal statute.

Historically, the City of Romulus has provided for public expression at all City Council meetings as a regular agenda item.

However, in a further effort to facilitate the public's access to its elected officials, I am recommending that a citizen's right to speak be placed near the beginning of the agenda, instead of its present location, near the end. This will allow a person their right to speak early in the evening, instead of having to wait until the late hours, as is often the case now.

I am personally hopeful that this gesture and the publicity that surrounds this open meeting act will encourage more citizens to take an active part in their city government.

You, the citizens, are the government. Elected officials and other public servants should be considered extensions of yourselves.

Our roles exist only as a means to deliver and fulfill your requirements. No government can function effectively without broad-based input from its citizens.

This new law, as applied to Romulus, only provides for additional safeguards and opportunities for involvement.

A companion act, PA 442, "The Freedom of Information Act," becomes effective today. This comprehensive law requires that certain public records be made available to the public, with the exception of personnel department records, involving confidential information that would prejudice a legal proceeding or constitute an invasion of privacy.

Although my office has always allowed citizens access to their records, this new law guarantees and safeguards that right, and establishes procedures for the collection and duplication of city records.

The rules and regulations enumerated under this law will be posted and available for all to see at the Clerk's Office.

My staff and I remain ready to help, in the hope that we can provide better services to you - the essential part of government.

The Lone Ranger or lone dissenter

A trustee of Canton Township, Bob Myers has been tagged as the "lone dissenter" on the board many times. So when calling the roll for voters at a recent meeting, the board members turned to Myers for an expected "NO" vote, and were visually surprised when Myers did not answer.

Myers hesitated and then apologized, "Sorry people, I just haven't made up my mind." He pondered over the issues, and then a few minutes later stated "NO", remaining true to his tag as "The Lone Dissenter."

Next time please raise your hand

Frequent recesses called by Canton Township Supervisor Harold Stein seem to plague the regular board meetings. Not since elementary school has there been such apparent needs for frequent recesses.

Whatever the reasons — be it short attention spans, tension, or nicotine fits — these all too frequent breaks only add to the meetings dragging on till all hours of the morning.

'Belleville Fog' is missing

One of the niftiest explanations of someone taking the wrong coat was printed in this week's The Rotary Bell, put out by Belleville Rotary Club.

It reads: "Help! We have one cool member. It appears that one 'Belleville' — not London fog' black raincoat with "zipout" lining and containing black, furlined leather gloves in the left pocket was hung in the coatroom here in the west corner of the north wall and then walked off.

"Did you happen to arrive without, forget, and then leave with? If so, Doug Brown would appreciate it back as while the snow is apparently under control he anticipates periodic rain soon."

We "feel" for you, Doug, while your coat is missing — but please don't give anyone the "cold shoulder!"

Through WIC Program

County wants to feed 3,000 families

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners and the County Board of Health are trying to attract at least 3,000 more low-income people into its outcounty offices to qualify them for free food that is waiting to be given away.

Under a nutrition program administered by the County Department of Health with funds from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, as much as $75,000 worth of additional food still is available for distribution each month to eligible women, infants and children in out-county areas.

The Women, Infants and Children program (WIC) is funded to accommodate 5,000 persons each month, but so far only 2,000 per month are enrolled in the service that will not affect any other form of public aid that applicants already may be receiving.

Free groceries that 3,000 others still can claim every month are high nutrient supplementary items such as milk, cheese, eggs, fruit juices, cereals and baby formula.

The WIC program is meant primarily to ensure a proper diet for pregnant and nursing women, infants and children up to age five, and the foods provided are selected for their exceptional protein, iron and calcium content.

Although the program is meant primarily for women and children, others may qualify who are nutritionally deficient or who have some medical problem that these high nutrient foods would help control. Some senior citizens may meet these conditions.

Participants in the program are issued WIC coupons each month that are worth $25 in exchange for the selected foods at approved markets, including major chain stores and independent neighborhood stores at a variety of locations out-county.

A certification procedure, requiring approval of a Health Department nutritionist or public health nurse is necessary to qualify for the WIC program and is available by appointment only.

The Board of Commissioners and Health Department officials urge all who think they are eligible to apply. The five sites where applicants should telephone for an appointment are:

—Inkster PRESCAD, which serves all of Inkster and the upper portion of Romulus (above I-94), can be reached at 563-1133.

—Downriver PRESCAD, which serves residents of Ecorse and River Rouge only, can be reached at 849-1156.

—Sumpter, which serves residents of the townships of Sumpter, Van Buren and Huron and the lower portion of Romulus (below I-94), can be reached at 697-9455 or 461-6711.

—South Health Center, which serves residents of the outcounty area below Michigan Avenue, except those areas listed above, can be reached at 287-2400.

—Wayne County Department of Health, for residents of the outcounty area above Michigan Avenue, except as listed elsewhere, can be reached at 274-2800, ext. 234. Areas included at this site are Garden City, Westland, Wayne, Canton Township, Plymouth, Northville, Redford, Livonia, Dearborn and Dearborn Heights.

Commissioner Edgar L. Harris, a member of the County Board of Health, said: "It's really great for us to have such a program as valuable as this at a time when it couldn't be needed more in certain areas."

Harris, from Taylor, thinks his district contains many people who will be happy to learn about the WIC program and will be eager to participate.

He represents District 26, which includes Flat Rock, Rockwood, Romulus, part of Taylor and Huron Township.

Another Commissioner and member of the Health Board, Royce E. Smith, from Belleville, said he hoped that many people from his area also would rush to join the program.

"If somebody doesn't eat it, this food simply will set on the market shelves when there should be 3,000 more people taking it off," he said.

Smith represents District 27, which includes Belleville, Plymouth, Wayne, part of Westland and the townships of Canton, Plymouth and Sumpter.

Operating at maximum capacity, the WIC program in one year will provide a total of $1.8 million worth of food in the county. The program was started eight months ago by the Department of Health in anticipation of approval from the Board of Commissioners in November to accept federal financing.

"We hope to utilize this grant to its fullest extent, and the Board of health is determined to get the federal government to renew the program," Harris emphasized.

Smith said he considered the program invaluable, "considering our disastrous unemployment figures and other bad economic conditions," and was confident that the Board of Commissioners would support the Board of Health in striving to maintain the grant until work conditions improve.

Shopping for the poor

Under a nutrition program administered by the Wayne County Department of Health, $25 worth of free food now is available each month to eligible women, infants and children up to age 5 in out county areas. The $1.8 million WIC program is funded by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to ensure a proper diet for expectant and nursing mothers, and young children who can pick up the free food at almost any supermarket or neighborhood store after their eligibility is verified by the Department of Health, which is looking for 3,000 more participants in the program. Examining a sample of the free groceries available are James DeQuis, (from left), manager of the A&P supermarket in the Metro Place Mall at Michigan Avenue and Wayne Road, and County Commissioners Thomas Presnell, of Westland and Royce E. Smith of Belleville. Smith also serves on the County Board of Health.

Presnell, Smith, Harris named to special panel

Three Wayne County commissioners, representing districts in western areas of the county, have been appointed to a special subcommittee of the Board of Commissioners to oversee construction of the new jail proposed for downtown Detroit.

Included are Thomas Presnell (D-Westland), Royce E. Smith (D-Belleville) and Edgar L. Harris (D-Taylor), all members of the Public Works Committee of which Harris is chairman.

They were appointed by County Board Chairman John Barr (D-Dearborn Heights), along with three other commissioners from Detroit and one from Redford.

The task of the new subcommittee is to solve problems and expedite measures that respectively would delay or speed up the jail construction, which is scheduled to begin this month.

Present plans call for an 11-story facility near Detroit police headquarters adjacent to Greektown which would provide 800 beds for inmates.

As an example of the subcommittee chores, the commissioners pointed to problems with Greektown merchants and the Central Business District Association (CBDA), and with negotiations with City of Detroit officials over zoning laws.

Although the proposed site was agreed upon two years ago, the merchants and the CBDA recently told the subcommittee that they object to the planned jail location, which they said would ruin business in the area and destroy an important downtown attraction in Detroit.

The opposing group said the jail as planned would attract undesirables to the area, add to traffic congestion and parking problems and discourage tourists.

Girls outspell boys in annual spelling bee

Girls can spell better than boys ... in the nine Romulus elementary schools at least.

Six of the nine elementary school spelling champions this year are girls.

Winners were chosen in the fifth and sixth grades at each school, with an overall champ being crowned in a spell-down.

At Barth Elementary School, sixth grader Matt Bossory, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Berry of 37160 Goddard, reigns as champion speller. Fifth-grader Susan Lewis, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Lewis of 12053 Schultz was tops in her grade.

At Beverly Elementary School, the fifth grade winner was Marrio Clark, the son of Mr. and Mrs. M.C. Clark of 6098 Clark, and Marlene Carpenter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Carpenter of 6545 Cogswell, was the sixth-grade winner. However, the school winner in the spell down was Juandlo Lee of 6214 Carnegie, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lee.

Cory Elementary School's top speller was fifth grader Chris Pennington, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Pennington of 34808 Stewart, while sixth grade winner was Richard Daniel, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Daniel of 34955 Julie.

At Gordonier Elementary School, sixth grader Cathy Napier was class and school winner. She's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Napier of 14580 New York. Fifth grade champ was John Ginnatti, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ginnatti of 11149 Harrison.

Hale Creek Elementary School champion is Denise Murawski, who won in a spell-down after failing to win her class title. She's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Murawski of 15094 Harrison. Spelling champs

It's not proof of superior brainpower that girls won six of the nine elementary school spelling championships in Romulus this year. Or is it? That's the question students are good-naturedly tossing around after the recent crowning of the nine word masters. The winners include Matt Bossory, Barth School, (front row, from left) Denise

Romulus High musicians net highest contest rating

This year marks the highest ratings and biggest turnout ever from Romulus Senior High School musicians in state competition.

Two Romulus High School musicians won superior No. 1 ratings and three others won two's in the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association Solo and Ensemble Festival last month in Adrian.

Winning the highest possible honor were Linda McDonald, flute solo, and clarinetist Carol Schneider.

Earning two's were Bridget Forinto and Linda McDonald on flute duet, Richard Smith, percussion and Andy Orgovan, tuba.

Musicians were rated on a scale of one to five with the lowest number being the best score.

The five Romulus students were able to attend the state competition as a result of their receiving a one at the District Solo and Ensemble Festival held earlier at Monroe Community College. They all won ones at the district level, in addition to Nell Walker, who earned the superior rating for her piano solo.

Gaining two's at the district competition were: Bridget Forinto, Kim Druyor, and Sonya Seese, all flute solos; Nora Hatcher, trumpet solo; Sue Orgovan, baritone solo; Jim Woolford, trumpet solo; Darlene Cunningham, clarinet solo; Kim Druyor and Sonya Seese, flute duet; and Dannelle Golightly, Carol Locke and Darlene Cunningham, clarinet trio.

Notching a three rating for their flute trio performance were Judy Taylor, Wendy Grimsley and Chris Snyder.

"I am exceptionally proud of these band students for the time and effort they put into preparing for the festival," said Ralph Miller, band director. "They have done a fine job of representing our school and community."

In outcounty townships

New funding sought for Road Patrol

A compromise formula to help fund the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol service for seven Western Wayne County townships after June 30 has been proposed by Wayne County Commissioner Richard E. Manning of Redford-Livonia.

Presently, the county pays for the township road patrols, but funding for that service will cease June 30.

Faced with severe budget limitations, the Board of Commissioners last November voted to discontinue free road patrol service to the townships which was costing the county $900,000 a year.

"Recent court rulings have substantiated the Board of Commissioner's claim that the county has no legal obligation to provide this service," Commissioner Manning told an April 6 meeting of county commissioners and township representatives.

Commissioner Rose Mary C. Robinson, chairman of the Board's Public Safety and Judiciary Committee, had called the joint meeting to "work together to find a viable compromise to the close-at-hand phase out of the township patrol."

"All of us share a deep concern over the elimination of police services to the townships because of severe budget problems faced by the county," Mrs. Robinson said. "However, this committee intends to work with you and Sheriff William Lucas in an attempt to maintain some measure of protection out there."

The affected townships are Brownstown, Canton, Huron, Northville, Plymouth, Sumpter and Van Buren.

Manning's compromise plan is based on traffic fines from the newly enacted Uniform Traffic Code to finance nearly one-third of the total road patrol cost.

"Last year, the state collected $284,000 in traffic fines," he said. "Under the new code that money would go into local treasuries and could be used to pay a large share of the road patrol costs.

"The townships and the county then would split 50-50 the remaining cost of the program — which would amount to roughly $700,000," Manning explained.

Manning further suggested that all townships that want continued road patrol service form a "Western Wayne County Community Coalition" to determine the level of service required.

"Once you determine your needs, you can divide the township share based on the number of people served and the number of square miles covered," he suggested. "In actuality, your people would only be paying 40 percent of the total cost of police service whereas most other communities pay 100 percent."

Manning was referring to the fact that cities are required to pay the full cost of their police departments. There are 33 cities and only 10 townships in Wayne County.

Commissioner George Killeen further recommended that the townships meet directly with the Sheriff to "see if he might be willing to realign his budget priorities for next year."

Mrs. Robinson has asked the township representatives to study the Manning proposal as a "reasonable solution or starting point" prior to a meeting with the Sheriff and the Public Safety and Judiciary Committee this week.

COURTESY IS CONTAGIOUS!

Begin planning home garden

Now is the time to begin planning your home vegetable garden, say horticulturists for Michigan State University's Cooperative Extension Service in Wayne County.

First choose a garden site. Most vegetables require full sunlight. But edible leaf plants, such as lettuce, spinach and collard, can withstand areas shaded by nearby buildings or other objects. Root crops, such as carrots and beets, will grow in light shade.

If possible, choose a location that has loose, fertile, level and well-drained soil. You can improve heavy clay soil by mixing peat moss and sand into it. Sandy soil can be improved by mixing it with peat moss or other organic materials.

Your garden location should be close to your home and have a supply of water.

"Once you've chosen a garden site, you'll need to decide what vegetables to plant. Begin by listing vegetables that your family will enjoy eating," recommends Paul Bridgewater, Extension agent and coordinator of the "Growing Roots" gardening program, designed to teach limited-income Detroiters how to grow, use and preserve their own fruits and vegetables.

If your garden plot is small, you'll want to grow vegetables such as turnips, beans, broccoli, leaf lettuce, spinach, tomatoes, onions, peppers and summer squash. Avoid planting vegetables such as cucumbers, melons, potatoes and squash, as these require a lot of room to grow.

"This is a good time to start buying your seeds from a local store or ordering them from a seed catalog," noted Bridgewater.

If you want to grow your own transplants for vegetables such as tomatoes, peppers, eggplants, cabbage and brussel sprouts, you should begin in early April. These should be grown indoors for about four to six weeks, then hardened for two weeks. Transplant tender seedlings after the last frost, usually around May 15.

"Generally you can buy better transplants than you can grow yourself," Bridgewater pointed out. "The main advantage of producing your own transplants is that you can grow varieties that might not be available in your local store."

Creative teens

Teen-agers again proved they can be creative when given the opportunity. Mrs. Helen Key, ninth grade home economics teacher at Romulus South Junior High School, recently had a fashion show where her students not only made but modelled their clothes for their parents. More

Ninth graders 'tailor' own fashions for 'Having a Fling'

Who says teen-agers are not creative? Certainly not Helen Key, home economics teacher at Romulus South Junior High School. Mrs. Key recently had her ninth grade class make and model their own clothes in a sartorial spectacular, called "Having a Fling with Fashion Spring 1977." Parents of the students were guests of honor and enjoyed the creative event, which was originated and supervised by Mrs. Key.

"I'm very proud of all the boys and girls for doing such a fine job,"

Mrs. Key said. "They really worked hard and deserve a lot of praise." Some 30 students participated in the clothing "fling" and each student modeled the clothes he or she made. Included in the clothes sewn by the students were jumpsuits, overall suits, wrap-around shirts, T-shirts of all kinds and sports and dress pants for boys and girls.

Some of the clothes described by Mrs. Key included golden yellow dress blouses with hand embroidered appliques worn by Donna Geisler and Cindy Sanders.

Michelle Havard wore a 4-piece sky blue woolen fabric outfit, including vest, pants, knee-length coat, blouse and cowl neck print polyester scarf to match. Francine Moore modeled a floral summer bare back dress with ruffle full skirt. Kevin Williams donned a 3-piece sand-color suit, which included vest, pants and jacket top-stitched with orange tone.

"The fashion show was a complete success and I'm so happy and thrilled for the kid's sake," Mrs. Keysaid.

The Garden Doctor says:

Let clay soil dry out

Tips from the "Garden Doctor" this week are:
Q: What can I do to improve the clay soil in my garden? Will gypsum help?
A: First, let clay soil dry sufficiently before spading it in the spring. Secondly, work in all the organic matter you can obtain. This addition of organic matter will be necessary every year, so you might want to start a compost pile. No, gypsum will not improve the type clays we have in southeastern Michigan.
Q: What vegetable can I plant outside during April?
A: You can put in transplants of cabbage, broccoli and cauliflower. You can sow parsley, onion seeds or sets, leaf lettuce, carrots, chard, kohlrabi, radishes, spinach, beets turnips, salsify and parsnips. This also is the time for planting rhubarb and asparagus.

Q: Several evergreen shrubs in my yard have brown needles this spring, especially on the southwest side. What can I do?
A: This sounds like dehydration. Nothing will cause the brown needles to become green again. Wait until new growth becomes evident. Then remove branches that are dead. Fertilize the shrubs to aid in their recovery.

Q: How do I know if my lawn needs dethatching?
A: Catch a plug from the sod and view it from the side. If it has more than a half inch of thatch accumulated on the soil surface, then do consider dethatching. If there is less than a half inch, then dethatching isn't necessary, in fact a small amount of thatch has some benefits.

POAM seeks ruling

The Police Officers Association of Michigan (POAM) has petitioned the Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC) to conduct an election to determine a union bargaining representative for the Metropolitan Airport Police Officers Association. The 57-member group presently is represented by the American Federation of State, County, Municipal Employees Union (AFSCME) and still has a year to go under its present AFSCME contract. "Normally our union would wait until a contract expires before petitioning for bargaining representation rights," Carl Parsell, POAM executive director, said. "But because the contract those police officers are presently working under is illegal, we are asking for representation at this time." Parsell said the current contract is illegal because "it includes supervisory personnel".

Just pretend

During the recent vocational education week at Romulus High School a great variety of occupations and careers were displayed. One of the most fascinating was the scale mockup house built by the building trades class in the front lobby of the school. Working on the house was the entire class. Mike Sapienta Jr. manned the hammer to help complete the miniature house.—ANP photo.

Variety prepares students for future

High school students in Romulus have an amazing variety of training materials to choose from in planning their future.

At least that's the feelings of Dick Campbell, chairman of the Compensatory Education Parent Advisory Council after attending a recent vocational education open house at Romulus Senior High School.

"We were amazed at the scope and abundance of training materials available to the students," he said. "The enthusiasm of the students and instructors is inspiring. It would be very worthwhile for students and parents to visit the classrooms and shops at the high school to see what is available for training today's youth."

Campbell judged the facilities second to none.

"There's such a wide variety of materials, that everyone can find something they like to do," he added. "They have the latest equipment and up-to-date methods of training. In many cases, a student can go directly from high school training to a job. Or they can continue their training in college or vocational school."

Campbell said the council, which works closely with Romulus Community Schools in setting up programs was very appreciative of E.L. Sheffield and his staff making the council members feel at home at the open house.

"Our varied vocational education programs have helped to drastically reduce the dropout rate of high school students," said Sheffield, director of vocational education. "We and our staff are constantly trying to improve and upgrade our program to make it better and more relevant to the students."

Juchartz chairs state panel on recreational land buying

Wayne County Extension Director Donald D. Juchartz has become the first chairman of the recently established State Recreational Land Acquisition Trust Fund Board of Trustees.

Juchartz is one of three "citizen" members who were appointed to the 5-member Board of Trustees by Gov. William Milliken. He was elected chairman by his fellow members at the board's first meeting.

The board was created late last year by the State Legislature to determine which lands and land access rights should be acquired by the state for public purposes.

Its recommendations will be submitted annually to the legislature with priorities designated. Purchase will be made following legislative approval.

"Creation of the Michigan Land Trust Fund will benefit every resident of Michigan and visitors to our State for many generations to come," Juchartz said. "Our task will be to identify those natural assets such as parklands and nature areas that should be saved from the spread of urban development so that we will have recreation beauty available to our growing population in the future."

Juchartz, in addition to heading the Wayne County Extension Service, is chairman of the county's Planning Commission and vice-president of the National Association of County Agricultural Agents.

His term on the Trust Fund board expires Jan. 11, 1978.

Juchartz resides in Belleville. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Journal of Extension, American Society of Horticultural Sciences, American Horticultural Society, Michigan Society of Planning Officials, and past president of the Michigan Association of County Agricultural Agents and member of Bedding Plants Inc.

Fessler attacks Kelley on handling of busing hearing

Attorney General Frank Kelley has been accused of being "totally incompetent and unprepared to argue Michigan's busing case before the U.S. Supreme Court" by a member of the Michigan Legislature.

Rep. Richard Fessler (R-Union Lake) said Kelley's presentation of the state's case was "an embarrassment to the people of Michigan and may set a dangerous precedent in the balance of states' rights."

Kelley recently appeared before the Supreme Court to argue that federal courts do not have the authority to order a state to pay for the cost of education program mandates as part of a school integration plan.

Fessler charged: "It was a political move. Kelley came in at the 11th hour and didn't bother to read Brown vs. the Board of Education, the 1954 landmark desegregation decision. As a result he jeopardized the position of the State of Michigan as well as 49 other states."

By conceding that states could be ordered to purchase school buses to carry out desegregation plans, Kelley "made a stupid error; he gave up his case right there," Fessler said.

He added that the real issue is that a federal judge, who is appointed for life, has undertaken to run a school district and has ordered elected representatives of a state to buy buses to carry out his plan.

"A state has the right and responsibility to determine the method to carry out a desegregation order. If the plaintiffs in the case are dissatisfied with the outcome, they may petition the court," he commented.

WANTED: People with free time

If you've got the time, the Volunteer Action Center has the opportunities to suit you.

There are dozens of helping agencies, nursing homes, youth centers, schools, mental health agencies, state homes and other agencies in Western Wayne County that are looking for a commodity that is becoming scarce in a busy world — your time.

Many agencies depend on the generosity of volunteers — those who are willing to donate a few hours a week — to add a personal touch to helping programs, to join a "cause" that lacks financial backing or to provide services to those who can't afford to pay for them.

The Volunteer Action Center, a department of the United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit, has compiled a booklet listing numerous agencies that are constantly looking for volunteers. Many people have time to give, but don't know exactly where to give it.

The booklet lists local organizations and the type of help they need. Most agencies are flexible in allowing the volunteer to set his or her own number of hours and days to volunteer. Many places also are looking for groups, such as church clubs or ladies auxiliaries, to take on the agency as a club service project in offering their time.

Included in the listing of agencies looking for volunteers are the following Western Wayne County organizations:

— Birthright of Western Wayne County, whose purpose is pregnancy aid, located at 2240 Middle Belt Road, Garden City. Contact person is Marie Gonzales at 422-3220.

— Communities United for Action, providing human services to low-income residents in the outcounty area, located at 23900 Goddard Road in Taylor. Contact person is Johnnie Cofield at 292-2110.

— Community Commission on Drug Abuse, providing outpatient drug treatment program for Western Wayne County residents, at 12555 Middle Belt Road, Livonia. Contact person Janine Gazley at 422-3600.

— Probation departments in many area courts are looking for adult volunteers to be probation officers. Call your local District Court.

— FISH of Wayne-Westland, provides "people services" such as transportation, emergency food or shelter, reacting to crisis needs, asks for adults and senior citizen volunteers. Contact Ruth Powers at 722-3606.

— Metropolitan Hospital West, asks for volunteers in people-to-people and health services, at 28303 Joy Road, Westland. Contact Cecilia Tobias at 869-3600.

— Livonia Office of Volunteer Energies (LOVE) is a recruitment and placement center for volunteers of all ages, located at 33001 Five Mile Road in Livonia. Contact Joan Duggan at 421-2000, ext. 221.

— Michigan Cancer Foundation, which has a Detroit Western Wayne Unit at 1112 N. Telegraph, Dearborn, needs volunteers to work in cancer education and patient care. Contact David Nesbitt at 565-1440.

— Michigan Heart Association's Western Wayne County center is located in Westland's Community Center at Ann Arbor Trail and Middle Belt Road and is seeking volunteers to staff the center which provides information on heart disease. Call 425-2333.

— Northville State Hospital for the mentally ill looks for volunteers to work with patients in health care, recreation and people services, located at 41001 W. Seven Mile, Northville. Contact Jean Bachelder at 349-1800.

— Plymouth Center for Human Development, a residential institution for the mentally retarded, asks for individual and group volunteers, located at 15480 Sheldon Road, Northville. Contact Ron Meyer at 453-1500, ext. 257.

— The Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) is for senior citizens who want to volunteer time in all aspects of volunteer work, through City of Inkster, 213 Henry Ruff Road, Inkster. Contact Patricia Peterson at 326-6262.

— Wayne County Rental Health Clinic at Wayne County General Hospital needs volunteers to work in health fields, people services, recreation and professional skills. Contact Rufus Parish at 224-5602.

— Women's Resource Center at Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty Road, Livonia, provides information, referral, counselling and courses for community women and needs volunteers to staff the center. Call Joann Hurley at 591-6400, ext. 370.

— Wayne-Westland Family YMCA, at 827 S. Wayne Road in Westland, provides recreation activities for the area residents. Call Eric Ellison at 721-7044 to volunteer.

— Western Wayne Branch of the YWCA, at 26279 Michigan Avenue in Inkster, asks for volunteers in all areas from recreation to people services to administrative help. Call Helen Nevill at 561-4110.

In addition, most area nursing homes organize volunteer programs to provide recreation and socialization for residents. Many times a club will adopt a nursing home, and its members volunteer time there. Schools are another place where volunteers frequently are needed, and information can be obtained by calling your local school principal.

Surprise birthday 'bash' is Chris's 'best one ever'

A 14-hour surprise party helped Belleville resident Chris Bentley mark her 48th birthday in style, with employees friends and relatives on hand to wish her well March 31.

Mrs. Bentley, who owns Bentley

Galleries and Crafts on Morton Taylor Road, the site of the lengthy celebration, described her birthday as "the best one ever".

The surprise event was spearheaded by Doris Russell,

Belva Sanchez, Martha Webb and Susie Erlenback.

Revolving around the theme of "This Is Your Life", Norma Jean Curran created a large comic poster of Mrs. Bentley's life, while George Cossin composed a 3-page poem to accompany it. Helen Price made the birthday cake.

On hand for the party was the Bentley's daughter, Brenda, her husband, Dewey Laginess, and their children Elizabeth and Dewey II, of Westland. The Bentleys' son, Steve, was at college and unable to attend the party.

According to Mrs. Laginess: "It was a surprise all those people were able to keep it a secret." She added that even customers were invited to join in the celebration.

The gallery is part of the Bentley Nursery and Galleries and Crafts, with the former being run by Mrs. Bentley's husband John.

Rev. DeFoe represents BPW's 15th District

The Rev. Susan DeFoe, minister of the Denton First United Methodist Church, has been chosen as the "Young Careerist" for District 15 Business and Professional Women.

She will represent the 15th District at the state convention, which will be held at Boyne Mountain next month.

The district meeting was held at Barczak's Gatehouse in Southgate March 29, with Allen Park Mayor Frank J. Lada, 33rd District Court Administrator K. Jill Neftman and Mary K. Metcalf, co-owner of the W.F. Hackett Funeral Home, serving as judges in the contest.

Elected to a position in the organization was Belleville club member Rosalie O'Hara of Harris Road, who was selected treasurer of the 15th District Business and Professional Women.

Mrs. Shephard feted for her school 'work'

A 25-year employee of the Van Buren School District has been recognized for her work in food services.

Verdys Shephard, who has been manager of the kitchen staff at Elwell Elementary School for 20 years, was honored for her 25 years of work at the recent Food Services Convention in Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Shephard became a school district employee in September 1952 when she began working at Belleville High School, located on West Columbia in Belleville. Follow workers at the facility at that time included Mrs. Alice Thurston, Mrs. Elda Bohl and Mrs. Viola McNally.

That year the kitchen was located in a converted book store, and the students either ate in their rooms or in the study hall, according to Mrs. Shephard.

Mrs. Shephard, who with her husband, Arthur, lives on Elwell Road in Belleville, was to replace a retiring Mrs. Thurston. The kitchen was moved to the West Columbia address, and Mrs. Bohl became staff supervisor.

VERDYSSHEPHARD

According to Mrs. Shephard, they "grew up fast" at the high school, and when the Quirk Road Elementary School opened, she went there as manager, working with Mrs. Evelyn Stage.

At one time she was sent to the Denton Road School as a 3-month replacement, and when plans were announced for the new Elwell School, she decided it would be great to work close to home. She transferred to the Elwell School staff in 1957, and has headed it ever since.

Mrs. Shephard said the lunches for that elementary school were prepared at the high school, then transported to the former site, where the meals were served in the hall. The floors of the cafeteria had not been laid yet. Mrs. Shephard added that the halls also were bit drafty, since the doors had not been hung.

The first in-house home-cooked meal was served to students at Elwell at Thanksgiving time that year.

Working with Mrs. Shephard was Mrs. Eldean Van Valkenberg, who also has been working in that school kitchen for 20 years.

Heading food services in the school district for the past six years has been Dave Baronian.

The Shephards are the parents of three children — Diane Ferguson, Jim and Brian — and have five grandchildren — Leslie, Shawn and Shari Ferguson and Daryle and Kimberly Shephard, Jim's children.

VFW Auxiliary prepares for election of officers new Members of VFW Post 4434 Auxiliary are circling April 21 on their calendars as a reminder of the meeting to elect new officers for the organization. The meeting is slated for 7:30 p.m.

And annual reports must be filled out and in the mail by April 30 for citation awards, according to an auxiliary spokesman.

The auxiliary also is extending its appreciation to Jean Dunbar and Shirley Cullin for the "enjoyable" socials held recently.

And the women's organization is calling on residents of the community to be sure to display the American flag on May 1 in observance of Loyalty Day. The group is urging residents to write their congressman and senator with their opinions on important issues and to "be proud of your country", the spokesman said.

"Have you done your share to make it a better place to live in?" she asked.

Members also are eyeing Aug. 20-26, when auxiliary members from throughout the United States will be converging on Minneapolis, Minn., for the annual national convention. And Livonia will be the site of an April 16 testimonial dinner honoring state President Jean Doering.

Poinsettia's 'cousin' bears no resemblance

The crown of thorns plant (Euphorbia splendens prostrata) is a cousin of the poinsettia, but it's hard to look at the two of them and see any family resemblance.

Crown of thorns is a spiny shrub with small, dull green leaves and salmon pink flowers. Like the poinsettia, this plant doesn't tolerate drafts.

Michigan State University horticulturists point out that the crown of thorns is a succulent. Care for it much as if it were a cactus, they advise. Pot in a well-drained potting mix and drench thoroughly. Then allow the soil to dry out before watering again. Overwatering will cause the bottom leaves to fall off. Fertilize three or four times a year.

Average home temperatures of 70-80 degrees during the day and 50-55 degrees at night are best.

Crown of thorns will survive in low light, but it needs full sun to flower. It is a durable plant that grows to a height of two to three feet and branches freely. It has no major insect pests.

You can propagate the crown of thorns by stem tip cuttings. Allow the cuttings to dry for several days before planting them.

The crown of thorns usually is used as a specimen plant for a table or shelf. Grouping it with cacti and other succulents makes an interesting display.

BENEFITS OF MOURNING CUSTOMS

Attending a wake, making a condolence call, offering help to the bereaved — all are two-way acts of care-giving.

These mourning practices directly benefit the bereaved family and one's self. In her book, "Death, the Final Stage of Growth," Dr. Elisabeth Kubler-Ross advises that the purpose of mourning should be to allow for a full outpouring of grief. Mourning becomes the opportunity for the family to re-group after the loss of a member, especially to be able, then, to continue living, loving, working and enjoying one and other.

By getting this outpouring of grief early, we help to prevent pent-up feelings of guilt and regret from blossoming later with psychologically unhealthy repercussions. "Getting it out of your system" as soon as possible is appropriate therapy in most instances, experts agree.

This is one of a series of brief articles we hope we will find helpful. You may ask us questions for yourself and of public interest.

County office offers seniors employment

By MAUREEN BEATTY

Another Wayne County Office on Aging program being offered is the "Employment Program For Senior Adults". Conceived by that Wayne County office, it was inaugurated on March 1, 1976 with the help of Dr. Frederick Weiss of the Dearborn Manpower Office and Dr. Arthur Lewis of Wayne County Manpower. The purpose of the program is twofold—the provide meaningful employment for senior citizens, who in turn provide services to their peers.

Economically disadvantaged senior adults are hired to supplement their income, with wages kept low enough so as not to interfere with Social Security benefits. Employees work part-time, 20 hours a week, for $2.30 an hour. At the present time Dorothy Jane Gaitskill, the program coordinator, has more than 50 seniors in working.

Work offered the seniors ranges from handyman and clerical to senior citizens coordinator of Northville. The education of those employed by Ms. Gaitskill ranges from no formal training to those with college degrees, including a master's degree.

"Seniors," said Mr. Gaitskill, "are very reliable and motivated employees, using their talents with the added assets of initiative and sensitivity." Turnover in the program is very low. One employee, age 72, left the program for a full-time job.

One of the programs in which the seniors are placed is the Telephone Reassurance Program for Dearborn, better known as Tele-Care. The service helps those who live alone, or are temporarily alone, to live independently. Daily, pre-arranged telephone calls are made to those subscribing to the service by the employed seniors. If the phone contact is not made as agreed on, appropriate steps are taken. For those using the service, the contact has become one they would no longer be without, for they have become friends over the phone with their contacts.

Other seniors have been placed in the nutrition program, assisting the managers at the various nutrition sites. Still others are sharing their talents by teaching classes such as arts and crafts to interested seniors. Ms. Gaitskill feels there is a great waste of talent in our communities by not allowing our older people to serve. She is working to correct this mistake.

For more information about the "Employment for Senior adults" program call Ms. Gaitskill at 326-9600.

And here's what should be done

Home & Garden

In 1976, April gave Michigan unseasonably warm temperatures, followed by a devastating freeze. Michigan State University horticulturists can't guarantee that it won't happen again, but they're assuming it won't as they offer these timely lawn and garden tips for this month.

—Early in the month indoors, sow the seed of fast growing annuals like cosmos, marigold and calendula for transplanting outdoors next month.

—Save Easter lilies for planting outdoors, if you intend to force them next year.

—Begin weekly plantings of gladioli in late April. Weekly plantings through June 15 will give you a continuous supply of cut flowers all summer.

—Prepare outdoor beds for annuals. Spade or till to work in peat moss, sand and fertilizer.

—Outdoors in late April, seed sweet alyssum, larkspur, annual chrysanthemums and cornflowers.

—Fertilize perennial flowers.

—Begin a regular spray program for fruit trees as soon as growth resumes.

—Plant lily bulbs, dormant roses, trees, shrubs and fruit trees.

—Remove half the mulch from roses, strawberries, bulbs and perennials. The rest can come off in late April or early May.

—Fertilize blackberries, raspberries, currants and gooseberries. Do not fertilize strawberries now — wait until after they have flowered and borne fruit.

—Apply weed control sprays in raspberries.

—Work the garden soil as soon as it's dry enough. Add fertilizer and lime, if necessary, following the recommendations of a soil test.

—In early April, plant parsley seed, onion seeds and sets, leaf lettuce, carrots, cauliflower, chard, kohlrabi, raspberries, strawberries, grapes, rhubarb, asparagus, early potatoes, radishes, spinach, beets, turnips, salsify and parsnips. Later in the month — after the soil has warmed up — plant sweet corn, beans and peas.

—Seed tomatoes, melons and other tender garden crops indoors late in April to transplant outdoors after the danger of frost is past.

—Prune deciduous trees and shrubs that flower after June 30. Do not prune spring flowering shrubs now — that would remove the flower buds and prevent blooming.

—Inspect trees and shrubs for scale insects and bagworms. Handpick and destroy bagworms. Each little bag contains hundreds of eggs that will hatch around June 1. Spray trees and shrubs with scale with a dormant oil spray when temperatures are above 45 degrees.

—Check spruce trees for brownish swellings at the tips of the branches. These indicate spruce gall aphids are present. Spray the tree now with lindane or liquid lime sulfur, or wait until late June to prune off this year's crop of aphid galls.

—Rake or dethatch your lawn, if it has one-half inch or more of thatch. An early mowing to one inch will remove old, dry grass blades to make way for new growth.

—Do not fertilize lawns now. Research has shown that early spring fertilizing increases some lawn disease problems. Wait until June to apply nitrogen at one-half pound per 1,000 square feet.

—Begin regular mowing when the grass turns green and starts growing again.

—Apply a pre-emergence herbicide for crabgrass control in lawn areas.

—Get motorized lawn and garden equipment in shape for the growing season.

Transplants: If conditions are right, they will grow

Most vegetables can be seeded directly into the garden, but tomatoes, peppers, eggplant and cabbage usually are planted as transplants. This is a must if these vegetables are to mature and produce a good crop before the fall.

"Transplants are readily available to the home gardener, but sooner or later, most gardeners decide to try growing their own," observed Jesse Saylor, Michigan State University horticulture specialist. "If they can provide the right combination of light, soil and temperature, and if they time their planting right, they may be successful."

Insufficient light for good plant growth is the most common problem of home-grown transplants. In most cases, the light on a sunny windowsill is just not bright enough, he pointed out. Also, it comes from only one direction. For compact, sturdy transplants and proper growth, use plant growth lights or cool-white fluorescent light fixtures.

Transplants should be about six weeks old when they're set in the garden, so seeds should be sown six or seven weeks before you need the plants. If the plants are susceptible to frost damage, plan on sowing seeds about six weeks before the usual frost-free date for your area.

"There's no advantage to planting much earlier and having large plants to set out," Saylor said. "Larger plants take longer to recover from the shock of transplanting, so they don't begin to produce any earlier than the smaller, younger plants."

Another common problem with home-grown transplants is damping off. This fungus disease can wipe out a stand of seedlings overnight. Avoid it by using only sterile soil, sterilized containers and tools, and high quality seed. If damping off occurs, discard affected plants, soil and containers and start over. Disinfect contaminated tools with a solution of 10 parts water and one part liquid chlorine bleach.

To speed germination, sow the seed, water lightly and cover the containers with a sheet of clear plastic. Set the containers where they will be subject to temperatures between 65 and 75 degrees. Keep them out of direct light until the majority of the seeds have sprouted. Then remove the plastic, thin the plants and place the container about six inches below the fluorescent tubes. Give the seedlings 16 to 18 hours of light per day.

Associated Newspapers Restaurant Review

by Lee Smith, ANP's Roving Connoisseur

...Leright's Coffee Shop

Dining with Jim Leright

(ANP News Editor Sue McDonald fills in this week for a vacationing Lee Smith.)

A fixture along South Wayne Road in Westland since mid-1966, Leright's Coffee Shop marks a second- and third-generation involvement in commercial food preparation.

With "roots" in the business stemming from his parents' operation of eateries in the City of Wayne, including a restaurant near the old National Bank of Detroit Building, Jim Leright, and his son, Tim, have built the current business from a coffee shop into a combination restaurant-banquet hall, while handling outside catering work.

Although not big on atmosphere, Leright's is big on good, filling food. Based on the recommendation of the shop's night manager I tried the restaurant's specialty, broasted chicken. My husband opted for a New York strip steak, then we sat back for a stomach-stretching experience.

Our first course was a fresh tossed salad with oil and vinegar dressing for my counterpart and cole slaw, the best I've tasted — creamy and with a tangy taste — for me. Southern-style rolls, with honey and butter, showed up on our table and soon thereafter the main courses.

A man-sized steak was trimmed of excess fat and had good marbling, according to my steak loving husband, and studied his taste to a tee. On the side were hot french fries.

For me it was platter of piping hot chicken, with hash browns on the side. The chicken lived up to the manager's claim. It was hot — and remained that way throughout dinner — coated in a light crispy batter that locked in the meat's flavor and juices. Although not a connoisseur of hash brown potatoes,

I found them an interesting change of pace from french fries.

The chicken can be ordered in three different portions — two, three or four pieces — and being fond of poultry dinners, I dug into a 4-piece dinner ... so much so that there was no room for dessert.

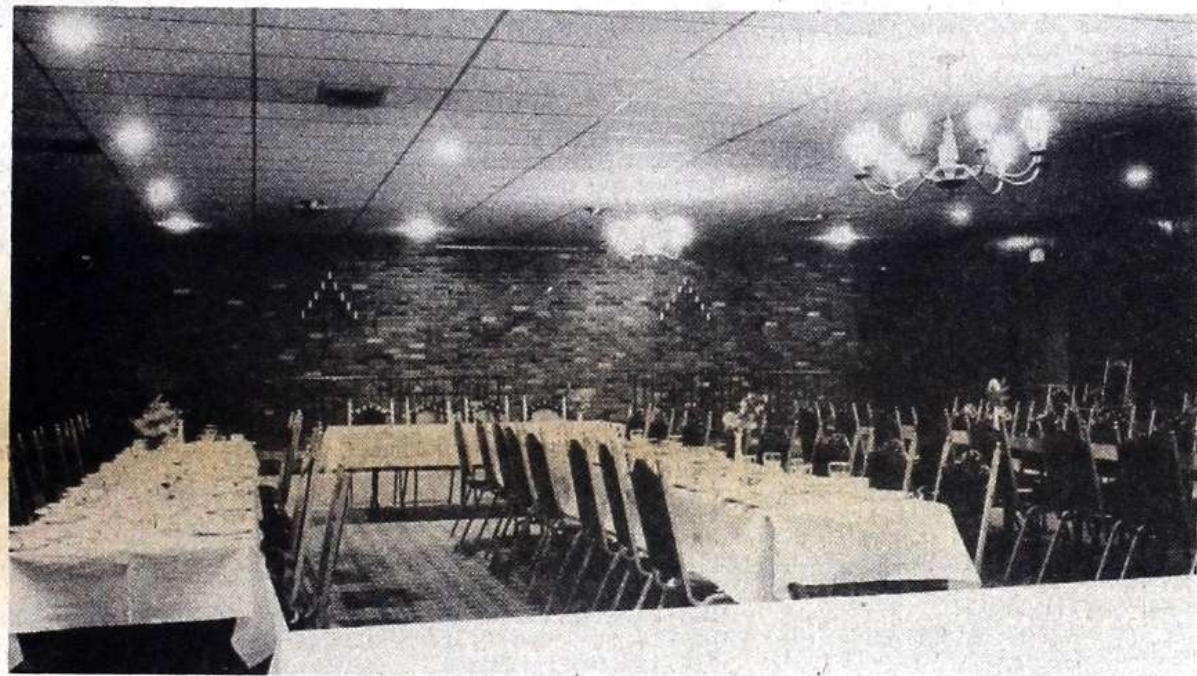

That's not to say that Leright's is lacking in dessert selections. In fact, just reading their selection, which varied from a hot fudge roll cake to homemade pies, I could feel my calorie count rising.

The menu at Leright's, located at 626 S. Wayne Road, includes a wide variety for lunch and dinner. There are hot and cold sandwiches and salads to choose from, as well as such seafood specialties as fish and chips and Gulf Stream shrimp dinners. Other entrees include ham steaks, beef dinners and pork chops, all for moderate prices.

And while pleasing diners in the coffee shop, the Lerights also are bring smiles to banquet crowds, serving such buffet items as their broasted chicken, kielbasa, ham, salads and relishes in the adjoining banquet hall, which has a seating capacity of 175 and opened in 1970.

Also bringing the establishment fame is its catered meals, including the Inaugural and Mayor's balls in Westland.

Ford Museum set for ragtime, jazz

Henry Ford Museum Theater will rock with the sounds of ragtime and jazz at 3:30 p.m. on Sunday for the final offering in this season's Historical Concert Series.

The concert officially is titled "Plantation Banjo, Ragtime Piano, Dixieland Jazz and Some of the Dance Steps That Went With Them". In short, the performance will trace the history of these musical styles through demonstrations and narration by some of the area's finest ragtime and jazz musicians. In 90 minutes, they'll show how new musical ideas passed from musician to musician and instrument to instrument, how they related to dances of the day and how even the limitations of the players themselves forced this musical evolution along.

Topping the program are Mothers Boys and Kerry Price. This traditional jazz band consisting of trumpet, banjo, clarinet, trombone and piano was formed in the '60s and now makes regular appearances around the Detroit area. Ms. Price, a former voice teacher, is the band's vocalist. Mothers Boys have appeared at the Bix Beiderbecke Memorial Jazz Festival in Davenport, Iowa, and St. Louis Ragtime Festival and the Toronto Ragtime Society Bash.

Also on the bill is pianist Bob Seeley. A native Detroit, he is renowned throughout the country as a performer of boogie woogie and "hot" piano.

Rounding out the performance are dancers from the Arthur Murray Studios. They will demonstrate the cakewalk, charleston, fox trot and other dances of the day.

Finally, pianist Michael Montgomery will pull it all together with narration. A performer with the Mystic Knights of Jazz and Mothers Boys, Montgomery is a frequent lecturer on early jazz and blues piano styles. His collection of some 5,000 piano rolls is one of the finest in the country.

This lively ragtime-jazz concert will be presented only once in the Henry Ford Museum Theater on Sunday. There is no additional charge for this single performance beyond the regular museum admission of $3 for adults and $1.25 for children 6 through 12 years. Children under 6 are admitted free.

Jose Limon Dance Company

Troupe outlives creators; Visits Music Hall Center

The Jose Limon Dance Company, the only modern dance company in history so popular that it outlived its creators, will appear at Detroit's Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts for only three performances at 8:30 p.m. Friday and 2 and 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

The company was formed in 1947 as a collaboration between the storied choreographer Doris Humphrey and her star pupil, Jose Limon, who was considered the greatest maledancer of his time and was accredited with revolutionizing the role of the male dancer.

The particular appeal of the company is centered on a style of movement now known as the "Limon technique," and on choreographic ideas involved mainly with man's basic tragedy and yet glorying in the grandeur of his spirit. The concept was so successful that now, 30 years later, the company still thrives with annual seasons in New York and yearly American and international tours.

All modern dance companies except Limon's discontinued when they lost their creators — their heart and soul — and yet Miss Humphrey died in 1957 and Limon in 1972. The two secrets of this company's continued popularity are the choreographic legacy of the founders (Limon created 67 works himself, many now considered classics), and the new "heart" of the troupe, Ruth Currier. As a dancer, Miss Currier starred with the company for 15 years, often paired with Limon. She also was assistant, in turn, to both Humphrey and Limon, and probably is the only one who could have preserved and staged her mentors' dances, occasionally expanding the repertory with compatible works of others, including some of her own highly acclaimed choreography.

In Detroit, the company will present Limon's much-praised masterpiece "Choreographic Offering," Limon's "Psalm," Miss Currier's own "Phantas-magoria," "Air for the G String" and "The Shakers" by Humphrey, and Murray Louis' "Landscapes."

Tickets for both evenings and the matinee are available at the Music Hall Center box office from 12 to 6 p.m. through Saturday. Tickets also can be purchased by calling 963-7680.

'Boys in the Band' closes sixth season for Theatre

"The Boys in the Band", the first serious play about homosexuality, will close out the sixth season of The Theatre of the University of Detroit and Marygrove College.

The adult drama, written by Mart Crowley, will open for a 3-weekend run Friday. Curtain time will be 8:30 p.m. for performances on Friday and Saturday as well as April 22-23 and 29-30. Performances will start at 7:30 p.m. Sunday and April 24 and May 1.

"The Boys in the Band" — Crowley's first play — became one of the most talked about the popular shows in New York when it was staged there in 1968, running for an even 1,000 performances.

The action of the play takes place in the New York apartment of a young man, named Michael, who is giving a birthday party for another young man, named Harold. Michael and Harold, as well as the rest of the party guests, happen to be homosexuals.

During the party an old college friend, of Michael's arrives, a "straight" man from whom Michael would prefer to conceal his own "coming out of the closet". Michael's efforts at concealment fail, providing some of the most humorous and tension-filled moments in theater.

"The Boys in the Band" is directed by David L. Regal, acting chairperson of the performing arts department of the two colleges.

Appearing in the production will be Warren Reinecker as Michael, Joseph Zubrick as Hank, Paul Gruber as Emory and Charles Van Hoose as Harold. The remainder of the cast includes Michael Ceresko, Michael Woods, James Bowen, Robert R. Beaupre and John Powers.

For further information on the production or for tickets, which cost $3.50 for general admission and $2.50 for students and senior citizens, contact the performing arts box office at 341-1838 or 927-1130.

Severinsen will appear with DSO

Trumpeter Doc Severinsen and "Mr. Country-Western Piano" Floyd Cramer will headline a variety entertainment bill for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's (DSO) annual "Cabaret Pops" series, May 11 - 28 at the Light Guard Armory, 4400 E. Eight Mile Road. The series is under the direction of Principal Pops Conductor Richard Hayman.

Twelve evenings at the "Pops" will offer musical treats for every taste, with concerts Wednesday through Saturday evenings over the 3-week period. Program features will include salutes to the music of Broadway and Hollywood, the country-western field, and the great dance-band era.

The popular Rackham Symphony Choir will join the DSO and four noted vocal soloists for two evenings of the music of Cole Porter. Well-known musician and radio personality Karl Haas will make his pops conducting debut with the orchestra in a pair of concerts, and pianist Eunice Podis will be featured on another program pair. DSO Assistant Conductor Philip Greenberg will be on the podium for the Doc Severinsen concerts.

Drinks and refreshments will be available at all concerts. Tables seating four are available for $24 and $20 at the Ford Auditorium Box Office or by calling 961-0700 for information. Some single tickets at $7 and $6 may be available at the Light Guard Armory on concert nights only. Call 366-8900 for information.

The complete schedule of "Cabaret Pops" is:

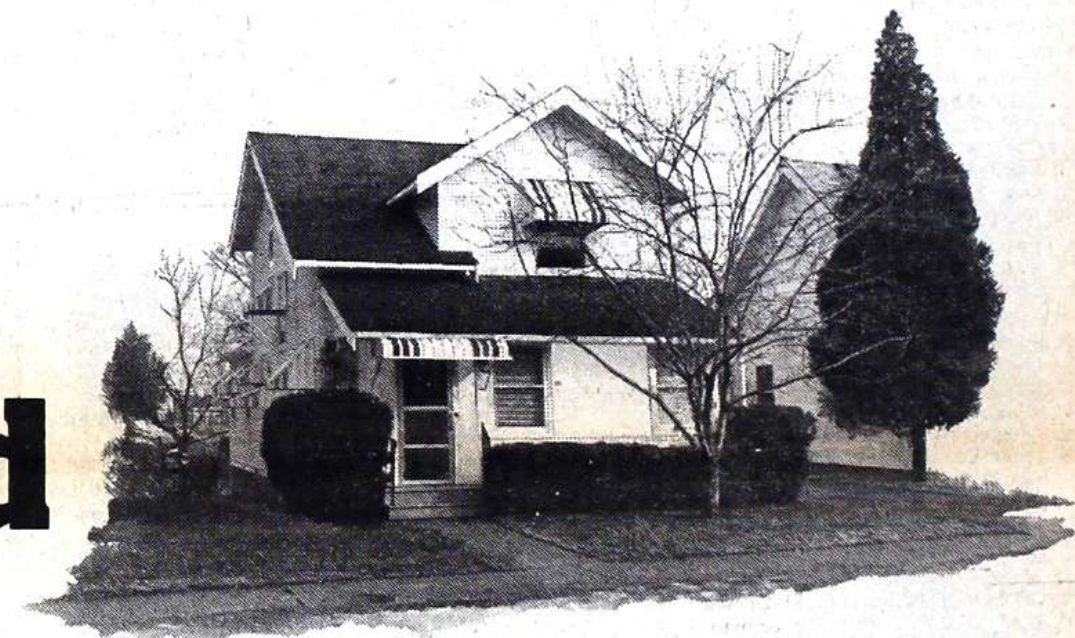

- "Great Dance Bands Revisited," conducted by Richard Hayman, May 11-12;
- "Country-Western Night at the Pops," with pianist Floyd Cramer, Richard Hayman conducting, May 13-14;

Wayne pitching may be title ticket

Chronowski: 'We are formidable on mound'

One of the keys to Westland John Glenn's bid for a Northwest Suburban Conference baseball championship is senior hurler Craig Duncan who is one of a host of returning letter-winners on Coach

Norm Hoenes' team. The Westlanders will travel to Plymouth Salem tomorrow to test the Rocks' title mettle. Salem will be a strong figure in the Suburban 8 Conference's championship drive.

Wayne came within two victories of winning the Class A state baseball championship a year ago.

Knocked out in the semi-finals by a tough Hazel Park, Wayne has a score of veterans back from that record-setting campaign. Coach Jim Chronowski's Zebras finished the season with a 20-10 over-all mark and with their first district and regional championships.

And with four experienced pitchers returning, Wayne, on paper at least, appears formidable. The foursome include righthanders Pat Bledsoe, who recently signed with Eastern Michigan University and Bill Crews, also headed for EMU. Left-handed Don Johnson, an all-leaguer, and junior Jim Capbell complete the seasoned rotation.

Chronowski, noted for his caution when it comes to discussing championships, surprisingly admits "that our pitching is formidable."

"This is one year when I can say that we have a surplus of veteran pitchers," Chronowski said. "Our major concern is our loss of the bats of Pat Sheridan and Mike Melcher who were the team's MVP's."

Chronowski is hoping that the pitching will make up for their departure.

"You know you can't predict what's going to happen," Chronowski continued. "That's what makes sports and athletics so interesting — time will unveil everything."

Meanwhile, to make sure time is on Wayne's side, Chronowski has assembled the necessary blend of hitting, pitching and defense to make him a contender again this year.

Mark Grieder, a senior who checks in at 6-1, 200-pounds, will return to first base and though the rest of the infield was wiped out by graduation, Wayne will probably use the versatile Bledsoe either at shortstop or third base when he isn't pitching, while the double-play combination of Roger Perkey (short) and Doug McGill (second base) has great possibility.

Perkey and McGill don't have the jobs sewed up as Mike Paz, a transfer student from Detroit Bishop Boreess, and Randy Pittman, an All-

Franklin '9' is ranked among top prep teams in nation

Ranked as one of the top high school baseball teams in the nation, Livonia Franklin has a difficult task ahead of it this season.

Coach Ron Hellier's Patriots amassed an excellent 24-6 won-lost record in 1976 and the nucleus of that pitching staff is back to defend the image.

"We look good at this point," said Hellier, "and our strongest — what you would call our forte — will be our pitching. We have three of the pitchers back who helped us win last year."

Of the three, Al Castrodale, a right-handed senior who won seven of his eight starts a year ago, should be awesome this year.

Castrodale and Calvin Beer (6-1) will give the Patriots the 1-2 punch on the mound that make the Livonians the pre-season Northwest Suburban Conference title pick. Franklin also may have the horses to make a run for it in the state.

Hellier's No. 3 man on the mound, Mark Williams should be improved over a year ago when he posted a 3-2 over-all record. Another pitching candidate, junior Gordy Wheeler, can throw as hard as any of the starters, according to Hellier.

Franklin won the conference championship with a 10-2 record and those two losses were inflicted on the Patriots by Thurston, who apparently knows something about the Livonians that the rest of the league doesn't.

"Traditionally we seem to always have problems with Thurston in baseball," Hellier, who is entering his ninth season as head coach, commented. "I don't know what it is, but they seem to play their best games against us."

Asked about the magazine article that ranks them as among the best in the nation, Hellier replied:

"Yes, I read the article and we're pleased with the recognition he said. 'However, high school baseball has so many variables in it — really one just can't say what will happen.'"

"But, for psychological reasons we'll take it — it just may help us win a game or two."

Canton, can it repeat?

Fred Crissey has been around the Western Six Conference and knows no one team has a monopoly on the conference baseball championship.

Though Crissey and the Chiefs own the title they earned last year, the Plymouth Canton contingent will find five others ready to snatch it away from them this season.

"There is a lot of balance in this league," Crissey pointed out, "and I don't expect anyone running away with the title. We have a shot at it, as does the rest of the league. Anyone of the five — Churchill, Waterford Mott, Farmington Harrison, Northville or Walled Lake Western can win it."

Crissey has one ace pitcher back from last year's championship team. He's Mark Perkins, a senior righthander who is impressive. Also working out on the mound are Steve Morman, a senior who throws left-handed, and Doug Bricker.

"But most of the teams have at least one solid pitcher back," Crissey noted, "and, in this game whoever gets the pitching has three-fourths of the title in his hands."

Canton also has a couple of veterans in Ken Randazzo, who is a senior that will handle second base; Ken Brittain, a third baseman and "a fine defensive player", Scott Collins, a junior, at short, and John Young behind the plate.

The weather has hampered the Chiefs — as it has many of the other teams — wiping out scheduled games with Sault St. Marie.

Canton will see action on Friday when the Chiefs will host Livonia Stevenson at noon for a doubleheader and, on Saturday, they'll take on Bishop Borgess before opening up the defense of their title at Walled Lake Western.

If it doesn't, Hellier also has a string of veterans returning who can. Ken Scarpace, who belted out 29 hits a year ago and batted .295, is one of those seasoned players. He also earned nation-wide recognition as one of the best on the prep scene.

Then, Mike Rotter, a letter-winner is back at second base, while Tom Thorshy will be shifted to first after serving in the outfield last year. Shortstop Steve Moorehead saw limited action a year ago, holds down that position while Tom Holdsworth, following in the footsteps of brothers Rob and Dave who played for and is playing for, Central Michigan University, respectively, has the job at third base.

"We still have a lot of holes to fill," Hellier pointed out, "but, I feel we definitely will have a very competitive team this year."

Hellier said his team has set its sights on the following goals: to retain the conference title; win 20 or more games and do as well as expected in state competition.

The Patriot coach sees an up-and-coming Westland John Glenn as one of the threats to realizing the team's first goal. "Glenn had a young team a year ago and a lot of those players will be coming back. They should be tough this season."

'77 could be Churchill's year in Western '6' conference

The 1976 baseball season was a rare one for Churchill Coach Roger Frayer and his Chargers — they lost more than they won last year.

But Frayer, who has had six winning seasons prior to the 10-12 record of a year ago, feels that he has enough ball players back off of last year's squad to turn the tide in 1977.

"We're capable of winning the title," Frayer said of his chances in the tough Western Six Conference. "But we have to come up with pitching. Everyone in the conference has at least one ace back and whoever finds another pitcher will be the team to beat for the championship."

Frayer, who isn't given to using superlatives, figures the conference "as among the best in the state."

"This is a baseball league," Frayer stressed. "Ever since the MHSAA decided to hold state championships, representatives of our league have either won or been in the state finals or semi-finals."

Churchill won the title one year, while Plymouth Canton and Waterford Mott both came within a couple of victories of capturing the coveted crown.

Frayer's ace on the mound is senior righthander Bill Bardwell who posted an 8-3 won-lost record and batted .219 a year ago. Frayer is grooming right-handed Dave Schomberger as his second hurler and the two pitchers could be the key to the Chargers' bid for the conference title. That title presently is in the hands of Plymouth Canton.

Jeff Morris and Matt Krakowiak, both juniors, are also throwing and will complete the Chargers' pitching rotation.

ROGER FRAYER

Jeff Lajoie, who batted the ball around at a .276 clip a year ago, is returning to the infield and Mike

Devlin, who batted .250 as a sophomore, is at third, Mark Galasso (.231) is the only returning outfielder.

"This team has a lot of speed," noted Frayer, "and we should capitalize on it. However, the question mark is our pitching. We really don't have any proven pitchers aside from Bardwell."

"And that can cause a lot of headaches," he said.

Frayer is in Florida this week and will return Sunday to get ready for the campaign. His team will face Dearborn Heights Crestwood on Monday.

"I don't believe in working the players during the vacation because the season is long enough as it is," Frayer said. "We'll be ready for the campaign and I know this one will be an interesting one."

Wayne-Ford needs money for baseball

In order to raise approximately $15,000 needed for its baseball season, the Wayne-Ford Civic League has scheduled several fund-raising projects.

One of those projects is a pancake breakfast to be served Sun., April 17 at the Civic League, 1661 Wayne Rd. Breakfast will begin at 9 a.m. and continue until 1 p.m.

It'll cost adults $1.50, senior citizens, $1.25 and children, $.51.

"If you want to bring friends or relatives, bring them," said Joe D. Cooley, athletic director.

"Everyone's welcome. And tickets will be sold at the door."

"The only way we're going to be able to raise the money for our baseball programs is if everyone helps out," Cooley continued, "after all, kids who play baseball are off the streets and doing something with their summer time."

There is a contest for the 7 to 13 year old ball players. The kid who sells the most tickets to the pancake breakfast will be presented with a new glove, bat and spikes. If you're interested in entering the contest, contact Cooley at 721-4651.

Warming up for the net campaign

All set to defend Wayne Memorial's tennis title rights on the court are veteran netters Todd Beyer and John Houle (at right) who must come through if the Zebras are to realize their goal of winning the Great Lakes 8 Conference championship. Wayne opened up the season on the shortend of a 6-1 decision against cross-town rival, John Glenn, and will begin the conference season on Tuesday with Fordson, a team that is always in the conference title chase. Coach Jack Armstrong's squad is the host for the league opener scheduled for 4 p.m.

Our pet peeves

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Here are just a few of our pet peeves:

High school baseball coaches who have unlisted telephone numbers don't realize that telephone operators won't give those numbers out to aging sports editors;

Readers who want a photo published, then toss a photo on the desk that looks as if it was taken off one of those prehistoric cave walls;

Readers who write in and ask, "I know that this is an item that is a couple of months old, but, please can you get it in the sports section;

Letters to the editor that are unsigned and also in hieroglyphics; PR. (public relations) people for organizations who wait until the day of the event, game — you name it — and telephone and ask, "Can you please cover the event," or, "We're so sorry that you can't," anyway, can you please send your photographer?

Scorekeepers who don't write first names and have last names spelled incorrectly;

Scorekeepers who can't keep score;

Anyway, thought I would take my frustrations out on you this week.

Let's get back to the local sports scene: What must have been a first in coaching for this area took place Monday afternoon when the two Smith brothers — Mitch and Al — were on opposite sides in a high school junior varsity baseball game.

Mitch is the coach for Wayne Memorial, while Al handles the same job for natural rival, John Glenn. It is probably the first time that a brother combination coached opposing teams in the area.

Anyway, it's the first time during my tenure as sports editor in these parts.

And Sam Vicchy, the Belleville High head swim coach paid us a visit last week, pointed out the glaring errors in our All-Area swim team. Though it's too late to do anything about those boo-boos, want our readers to know that we will be expanding our coverage in that area next week.

All wasn't negative when it comes to All-Area Teams. Dan Chrenko, head wrestling coach at Plymouth Canton, had this to say about the ANP's recent selection:

DEAR MR. MOORADIAN,

The Plymouth Canton High School Wrestling Team would like to thank you for the coverage our team received this past season. The Eagle All-Area team is a great public promotion to our sport.

Thanks again for your great coverage.

Sincerely,
Dan Chrenko

And, let's sandwich this note in before our next letter. There was a record-breaking crowd at the University of Detroit's annual Basketball Banquet. Some 850 persons showed up at Detroit Plaza Hotel to honor the Titans who had a record-setting 24-3 won-lost season.

Two former Romulus stars were among those honored. Johnny Long, who led the team in scoring, was presented the Most Valuable Player Award, while Ron Bostick was named the Most Improved Player.

Head Coach Dick Vitale announced that John Long, Kevin Kaseta, an all-stater from Livonia Franklin who was injured early in the recently-concluded campaign, and Terry Tyler would be tri-captains of next year's squad.

And let's wrap it up with the following letter:

DEAR MR. MOORADIAN,

I know it is late to write about something that happend last year during the baseball season, but, in hopes that it won't occur again this year — here goes.

You know the coaches and children on Little League teams work very hard and are proud of that they accomplish just like anyone else.

I'm a great-grandma who is extra proud of her two great grandchildren who are involved in athletics. My granddaughter, Jonella Tittenson, and her team won every game last year and the team's picture was in the newspaper with a nice write-up.

Later my great-grandson, Johnny, who played for the Comets, also played on a team that won all their games and no write-up, no picture and I can tell you those children worked so hard and were very disappointed.

I hope this year you won't leave those kids out and will give them some sort of recognition.

Thank you.

Sincerely,
Mrs. S. Lane.

Dear Mrs. Lane,
No way will I disappoint a great-grandmother.

Wayne starts track season in style

Zebras cut loose from Fordson, Glenn

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Wayne Memorial started the Great Lakes 8 Conference track season in style as it humbled perennial obstacle Fordson 109½-47 in the league opener for both schools.

The Wayne victory ended Fordson's track domination over Zebra teams. It was the first time a Wayne track contingent had ever beaten the Dearbornites in dual meet competition.

"Our kids did an outstanding job against them," said Ernie Righetti, who began his second year as head coach. "This was an excellent way to begin the league season."

Righetti isn't talking about championships, "because, it's a bit premature," he points out, "but, if we can improve and shy away from injuries, we're going to be all-right."

Brett Hansen, one of the top hurdlers in the state last year, accounted for 20 of the Wayne points. The Wayne senior captured both the 330-yard low hurdles (41.0) and the high hurdles (14.7) and was the top long jumper (20 feet, 8½). He finished the day by easily beating Fordson sprinter, Steve Papp, in the 220-yard dash. Hansen's winning time was 23.8.

Wayne also received a pair of first places from John Smith who won the discus with a toss of 116 feet, 4 inches and the shot put (50'1½). Carrie Craves cleared 6 feet in the high jump and topped the field in the pole vault competition with a 11 feet, 6 inch effort for two other Zebra victories.

Earlier in the week, Wayne cut John Glenn's four-year domination over the Zebras by edging Coach Barry Basel's Rockets 68-65 in a triangular meet. Garden City West was tied with 32½ points.

Hansen against was instrumental in the triumph over the Westlanders.

His five points in the 220-yard dash tied the score at 65 all, then his teammates finished second behind Garden City West in the mile relay to clinch the victory.

Glenn, Wayne split doubleheader

Westlanders bow in marathon opener, 2-1

Leave it to arch-rivals Wayne Memorial and Westland John Glenn to begin the 1977 baseball season with a marathon.

Wayne broke up a 11 inning game against its out of the league rival when Jerry Smart scored on a wild pitch to give the Zebras a 2-1 victory in the first game of a doubleheader at Westland John Glenn.

Glenn came back to win the nightcap 10-7.

In the opener, Craig Duncan started for the Rockets and pitched the first 7 and one-third innings. He struck out seven and walked six while giving up three hits. Bill Robertson took over. Smart singled off the reliever in the 11th, then proceeded to steal second and went to third on the catcher's errant throw. Robertson intentionally walked Bill Crews and when Crews broke for second, the Rocket hurler threw the pitch into the dirt, allowing Smart to score the winning run.

Wayne scored its first run in the top of the eighth when Pat Bledsoe drilled a triple off of Duncan. Coach Jim Chronowski inserted Jim Lentine in to replace Bledsoe at third and Tom Banner's sacrifice fly drove home the first run of the ball game.

In the bottom of the 11th, Glenn struck back. Craig Lenhoff cracked a two-out single driving home the tying run.

Don Johnson started for Wayne on the mound and gave up three hits - to Walker in the first, and back-to-back singles to Doug Martin and John Mervyn. He shut the Rockets out, notching five whiffs and walking two in his four-inning appearance.

Bledsoe worked the next four innings and was tagged for three hits. He walked one while striking out six before Jim Canfield, who got credit for the victory, took over.

Of Wayne's seven hits, Bledsoe collected two, Smart had a single as did Tim Clark while Mike Paz, a transfer student from Bishop Borgess, belted a double in the seventh.

Crews got off to a shaky start in his pitching debut for Wayne as he gave up four runs in the second and was charged with four more in the third in the second game. He walked the first three batters he faced in the third innings before Larry Vojtkofsky took over.

Craig Walker emptied the bases with a three-run double which gave the Rockets an 8-3 lead. Wayne made it a 8-5 ballgame in the fourth and picked up two more in the sixth, but Glenn widened the gap with a pair of runs in the bottom of that inning.

Southpaw Brian Martin went the distance for the Westlanders as he fanned 11, walked five and gave up nine hits - three to Doug McGill, who bagged a pair of RBI's and a double. Crews also had two hits while Smart scored four times after getting aboard on a couple of singles and two walks.

Doug Martin had a perfect day for Glenn, scoring three times and Lenhoff hammered three for four - all singles.

Wayne will return to the diamond on Saturday when it will take on Ypsilanti for its second nonleague. Meanwhile, Glenn awaits Inkster (Thursday) and will travel to Plymouth Salem on Friday before taking on Livonia Stevenson on April 20.

Zebras zip past Glenn, West

Putting aside unseasonal cold weather, Wayne Memorial, Westland John Glenn and Garden City West thincads warmed up for the 1977 campaign last Tuesday with their first meet of the season.

And with Wayne claiming 70 points, the Zebras managed to hold off their two area rivals to win the opener. Glenn was a close second, garnering 62½ points while West finished third (31½).

"We lost it in the field events," said Barry Basel, Glenn's veteran track coach. "We made a run for it in the track events however we just didn't have enough to put it out."

Brett Hansen accounted for two of the Wayne's first places as he leaped 20 feet, 8½ inches in the long jump and took the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.6, two-tenths of a second before teammate Brown.

Ted Unold, one of the top distancemen in the state, won the two-mile and the mile for the Westlanders.

"It was a good way to state the season," Wayne's sophomore coach Ernie Righetti said. "This is the first time in four years that we have beaten Glenn and I'm happy we ended our losing streak against them."

Canton is seeking golfers for league

Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department is seeking golfers to complete its men and women's leagues. The leagues will play at Fox Hills.

"We need at least 10 more men for our adult league," said Chuck Sheets, golf league supervisor, "and we also need some women golfers."

"However, unlike the previous years our leagues have become so popular that we can only sign up Canton residents. There is one exception, however. If the golfer has played in our league last year he or she is welcomed back again no matter where they reside," Sheets said.

There is a $10 registration fee for the adult men's league which will begin play April 25 at 5:45 p.m. There is an organization meeting 7 p.m., April 20 at the recreation center, 44237 Michigan Ave., for the league members.

Canton also is seeking golfers for its senior citizens' league for players 62-years-old or older and for two women's leagues. The advanced players - for golfers who card 75 or lower for nine holes - and for the second league will meet May 19 at the Canton Recreation Department Department at 7 p.m.

League action will begin May 27. Further information about the golf leagues may be obtained by telephoning Sheets at the recreation department.

League seeks 4 more men's softball teams

If you're interested in playing in an organized slo-pitch men's softball league in New Boston this summer, contact John Pinter.

Pinter said this week that he has 10 of 14 teams back from last year's league, including defending champ, Batrack Sports Shop, and is looking for four more teams to complete the field.

Competition will begin May 31 and team registration deadline is April 24. There is a $300 entry fee which covers the costs of paying officials and buying trophies.

Further information about the league may be obtained by telephoning Pinter at 654-2137.

Wayne pitching looks formidable

Area wrestler, are in the chase for the starting assignments.

Then there are Larry Vojtkofsky and Greg Butler who want work in the infield.

Though Wayne may be vulnerable in the infield because of their lack of experience, expect the defense to be real tough as the season ripens and when the state playoffs get underway.

"We may lack the luster in the infield at the beginning of the season," Chronowski admitted, "but I feel we will be decent as these kids get experience."

Chronowski won't have to worry about at least two of his outfield positions - Tim Clark, a dependable and durable performer last season and Crews are among the finest on the high school scene today.

Catching, however, is where the Zebras will need help. Jerry Smart is untested though he has the potential to develop into one of the finest.

Contesting for the catcher's job is Tom Banner, up from the reserves and, who has all the credentials. Grieder or even Bledsoe may find themselves behind the plate if the first two candidates don't pan out.

Wayne left its finest play for the stretch and wound up with district and regional championships. However, the Zebras were overshadowed by Monroe (10-4) in the Great Lakes 8 Conference. Chronowski's contingent finished in second with a 9-5 record.

And one of the Zebras' goals is the move up a notch in the league.

However, Wyandotte, not Monroe may have something to say about that. Wyandotte has a couple of strong arms returning and one, Kevin Richards, already has signed a letter of intent to play for Eastern Michigan University, one of the finest college baseball teams in the nation.

"I feel Wyandotte is the team to worry about," Chronowski said, "but they're probably saying the same about us."

Who can blame them, Jim?

MHSAA gets ready for tournaments

Belleville to host playoffs

Belleville High has been designated as one of the sites for Class A district baseball playoffs, according to a Michigan High School Athletic Association.

The district playoffs will begin the first week of May.

Teams seeking the title at Belleville include: Adrian, Ann Arbor Huron and Pioneer, Plymouth Canton, Plymouth Salem, Monroe, Romulus, Temperance-Bedford, Wayne Memorial and Westland John Glenn and Ypsilanti.

Livonia Churchill and Franklin will head east to Dearborn in quest of a district championship and a regional playoff berth. The two teams will play in the tournament hosted by Dearborn High.

Other teams pitted in that district are Edsel Ford, Fordson, Dearborn Heights Annapolis, Crestwood, Detroit Cady, Chadsey, Mackenzie, Garden City East, Garden City West and the host, Dearborn.

In Class B pairings, local teams are scheduled to see action at Novi High. Inkster and Cherry Hill must get past the likes of Dearborn Divine Child, Robichaud, Clarenceville, Melvindale, Novi and South Lyon in order to qualify for the regional playoffs.

Meanwhile, the MHSAA also has set up four tournament managers' meeting which will be held for the purpose of reviewing procedures and general tournament operations.

One of those meetings will be held 2 p.m., April 20 at Dearborn High School. Managers should direct questions to Jack Jackson, the high school's athletic director.

The MHSAA also released the tournament assignments for the 1977 district softball championships and most local teams will be playing at Ann Arbor Huron High.

Belleville, Westland John Glenn, Wayne Memorial, Brighton, Temperance-Bedford, Adrian, Ann Arbor Huron and Pioneer, Plymouth Salem and Canton are among those girls' teams that will seek titles at Ann Arbor.

Redford Union will host teams representing Livonia Franklin, Churchill, Annapolis, Crestwood, Bishop Borgess, Bentley, Stevenson and Northville.

Riverview will host Cherry Hill, Riverside, Ecorse, Grosse Ile, Melvindale, Riverview, Gabriel Richard, Southgate Aquinas, Schafer and Southgate.

Career day speakers

Lloyd Carr, former John Glenn head football coach, (at left) seems to get around these days. He popped up at Belleville High School last week to take part in a "Career Day" program which also featured Keith Emerson, a teacher and ex-Belleville High head grid coach.

Carr was a former member of Emerson's staff before getting the job at Glenn where he helped forge the Rockets into a state power. He's presently an assistant coach at Eastern Michigan University.

Chiropractic golf benefit tournament dates are set

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

One usually doesn't see a score of chiropractors, amateur, and Pro-Am golfers packaged in one single tournament but that's what George Swistock Jr. has designed for his second annual golf benefit slated for June 18-19 at Bay Valley Golf Club in Bay City, Mich.

Swistock, a pro at Lemontree Golf Course in Belleville, expects to have some of the top golfers in the state in this year's competition.

Al Mengert, Oakland Hills golf pro, Glenn Stewart, of Bedford Valley (Battle Creek), Larry Mancour (Flint Golf Club) and a host of others including Gene Bone, past-president of the PGA, Benny Davis, Tony Horton, Richard Better, Steve Horvath and Jim Applegate have confirmed reservations.

"This tournament will have a format which includes flights for chiropractors who will play for a traveling trophy, for amateurs, who will be competing for trophies and for Pro-Am golfers who will be shooting for a $2,000 purse," said Swistock.

"We would like to get about 60 golfers in this year's tournament," Swistock added.

Swistock pointed out that the first day of the tournament, (June 18), the Pro-Am Event and first round of the 36 hole stretch and handicap event will be staged and the pros will be playing the first round of the 36 hole event for the purse.

The tournament will be wrapped up on June 19.

There is a $100 entry fee which includes green's fees, cart for two days and overnight accommodations at the hotel. Entry deadline is June 1. Further information about the golf tournament may be obtained by telephoning Swistock at 326-0170 or Dr. Jim O'Dell at 529-3530.

Churchill's too much for Franklin runners

Livonia Franklin Coach Bob Holmes figures that cross-town rival, Churchill, "is about as good a team we're going to meet this year." Churchill claimed nine of 16 events, including two of the three relays, en route to an 94-66 opening day victory over the Patriots.

"We figured that we needed to win the relays in order to take this meet," Holmes pointed out, "but Churchill took two of them and that about did it."

Franklin, which has been second best to Westland John Glenn in the Northwest Suburban Conference, would like to change that this season.

"We have a solid team and if we can stay healthy," Holmes said, "we're going to take a shot at it."

Franklin got 15 points from senior Dave Bowen who placed first in the long jump (19'10"), in the 100-yard dash (10.9) and the 220-yard dash (23.8), while Tobin Jones and Michael Austin were both double winners for Coach Fred Price's Chargers.

Jones ran a 10:22 for the 2-mile and was clocked in the winning time of 4:44 for the mile, while Austin swept both the high and low hurdles.

Franklin returns to the track on Thursday when it runs Garden City East and Garden City West in a triangular meet at West High. The first event is scheduled for 1 p.m. and East is a conference rival.

Huron Valley captures 6 state medals

The Huron Valley Wrestling Club picked up six medals at the U.S. Federation Kids' Wrestling state tournament held at Grand Rapids Community College over the weekend.

Though Coach Bob Farrugia's grapplers didn't strike gold, they came close with Jerry Umin, a 70-pounder who was the state's runner-up in the 11-12 age group.

Huron Valley came home with four third places thanks to Freddie Butt (58) and Bruce Nigg (64) both 8 and under wrestlers; 11-12 year old Rich Umin who is a 80-pounder and Sam Farrugia, who finished third as a 95-pounder in the 13-14 age group.

Jeff Umin earned a fourth place medal in the 9-10 year-old category. He's a 75-pounder.

All six young wrestlers qualified for the federation's national tournament. A date and site haven't been set for that tournament.

DNR fish-stocking project pays off in Belleville lakes

The Department of Natural Resources' recent project to stock Belleville, Edison and Ford lakes is apparently paying off.

"I feel that area fishermen are reaping the benefits of this excellent project by the DNR," said Ken L. Stoltz, a 23-year-old angler who "has been fishing ever since I've been able to carry a pole."

"You know a lot of governmental projects come under criticism, but here's one that I feel everyone is benefitting by," Stoltz continued, "and I would like to thank the DNR for what they have accomplished here."

Ken and his father, George L., recently opened a bait and tackle shop, Guenter & Sons Marina, located at the east end of Belleville Lake.

"I like catching fish but I think there is something all of us could do to help, let's keep the waters clean, stop throwing trash in the lakes."

"It's really a shame to see how some people will mess up the waters when it's just as easy to keep a trash bag aboard and toss the trash into the bag," Stoltz added.

Stoltz pointed out that the DNR stocked the lakes with walleyes, crappies, panfish, bass and pike and most of the anglers in the area are making good catches.

And if you're in the area, stop by the marina — Stoltzes offer bait, tackle, hunting and fishing licenses along with refreshments.

Michigan Hall of Fame to honor Gerald R. Ford

Robert D. Lund, vice president of General Motors and general manager of Chevrolet Motor Division, has been named general chairman of the Michigan Sports Hall of Fame Dinner on Wednesday, May 25 at Cobo Hall.

In making the announcement, Michigan Sports Hall of Fame Commissioner W. Nicholas Kerbawy said, "Lund needs no introduction to sports enthusiasts. His face is probably better known to college football fans across the nation than any other company executive in the country because of his identification with Chevrolet's NCAA football scholarship program."

A native of Duluth, Minnesota, Lund is a graduate of the College of St. Thomas, St. Paul, Minnesota, where he lettered in football. He began his Chevrolet career as a district sales manager in Minneapolis in April, 1946, following three years of service in the United States Navy during World War II.

To be honored at the May 25 dinner are: Gerald R. Ford, former U of M lineman and former President of the United States; Dave DeBusschere, U of D and Detroit Pistons star; Alex Delvecchio, former Red Wing great; and the late Sam Bishop of Northwestern High School fame and the late Ann Marston, national archery champion.

Tickets for the dinner are $20.00 per person with tables of 10. The 6:30 p.m. cocktail reception is priced at $3.00 per person. Tickets may be obtained from the Michigan Sports Hall of Fame, 1959 East Jefferson, 3rd floor, Detroit Michigan 48207. Telephone (313) 568-0366.

When you reassemble parts for your automobile, you should not have to use much force, since the components should fit together smoothly. If they do not, double check to see that you are placing the correct part in the correct slot. In this phase of the job, do not use more force in tightening a fastener than you would in firmly securing the lid of a jar, unless the service manual calls for the application of a specific amount of force with a torque wrench. Old parts such as burned out bulbs and cracked hoses can be thrown out.

Replace worn auto parts with new ones from KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan Ave., Inkster! We offer a complete inventory of quality parts and accessories for both foreign and domestic cars. Cherry Hill's road to success full of pitfalls

Ken Mientkiewicz has been given the task of reincarnating the Spartans' baseball team.

The second-year Cherry Hill coach, whose team finished 8-13 a year ago, feels confident that this year he may have a contender.

"If our pitching holds up, I hope to be in the thick of the title race,"

Mientkiewicz revealed. "We have a little more depth on the mound and quite a few kids up from the junior varsity who look impressive."

Nonetheless, Mientkiewicz will have to forge a contender with only four regulars and concedes that Taylor Kennedy, the two-time Tri-River Conference champ, and Southgate Schafer, which will a trioka of returning pitchers, have strong title credentials.

The four Spartan holdovers are Mark Lipinski, Rich Rimmel, Brian Shuster and Mike Snyder.

Lipinski, selected to captain this year's squad, plays third and will pitch. The righthander was slated to start Wednesday against opening-day rival, Garden City East.

Shuster, a senior, probably will handle second or third base and is considered a solid hitter, while Rimmel, also a senior, finished last year with a .270 batting average and will be back in left field.

Snyder is a two-year veteran and will retain his job as catcher.

Joining Lipinski in the pitching rotation are junior hurler Mike Doyle, a lefthander, Mark Buck, an 11th grader who will pitch and play short and sophomore righthander Scott Dawson.

"Hopefully, we will be better pitching this year," Mientkiewicz. "We have a little more depth on the mound."

The Spartan infield will include

Buck at short, Lipinski at third, while Shuster and Tim Hoffer will battle for the assignment at second. First base is also a toss up between Doyle, Ron Sosnowski and a couple of others.

Rimmel has one of the outfielders' positions sewed up while Jack Slade, Don Boren, Jeff Bilek, Gary Boehnlein, John Carter and Dave Lezotte will fight it out to see who fills the other spots.

Mientkiewicz is pleased with the progress his team has made during the pre-season phase of the training.

"We're swinging the bat and our fielding is pretty good," he said, "and the weather has given us a break. Last year we didn't get out until two or three days before our first game."

"We have been able to practice for at least two weeks now."

Mientkiewicz will have an opportunity to get a look at all of his players next week as the Spartans have scheduled three doubleheaders — Dundee (April 9), New Boston Huron (April 13) and Woodhaven (April 15) over the Easter Holidays.

Wayne gals launch defense of track title with victory

With a first-year coach at its reins, Wayne Memorial launched the defense of its Great Lakes 8 Conference girls' track title with a close 72-64 victory over Fordson last week.

Fordson has been a thorn in the Zebras' side and Coach Doug Tompkins' team pulled it out in the last event, the mile relay.

"I'm very happy to win this," said Tompkins. "Fordson has the number to throw against us or anyone and we don't have any depth at all — but we do have the talent."

Wayne walked off with nine of the 14 events, including a double victory by Colleen O'Brien who won the half-mile in 2:41.2, then picked up the 440-yard dash in the 1:06.0 performance.

Wayne's Lori Sheridan captured a first in the shot put with a toss of 33 feet, while Debbie Barry cleared 16 feet, 9½ inches in the long jump and Lisa Nibert placed first in the high jump with a 5 feet, 5 effort.

Tompkins also received first place performances from Sonja Kozorosky who ran a 12.3 for the 100-yard dash; Melissa Stanford, a 24.1 runner in the 110-yard low hurdles. Wayne's mile relay included Julie Poster, Lori Jones, Terri Discher and O'Brien.

Sophomore Amy McBaine made her league debut with a impressive toss in the discus. She threw 84 feet, 4½ inches and finished second. Discher also was second in the 880-yard run with a 3:41.6. She is a sophomore.

Wayne gets a week off before returning to the track for its second league test, hosting Monroe 4 p.m. on April 21.

Spartans win big in track opener

Cherry Hill, which has won the last four Tri-River Conference track and field championships, unleashed its awesome power against Clarenceville last week and buried its nonleague rivals, 118-39.

Despite the northerly winds and unseasonal cold weather, Coach Joe Grasley's Spartans showed that they will be a strong factor in the conference and area again this season.

Led by senior Clarence Guyton, who won four individual events, Cherry Hill stashed away 13 first places. Guyton, the league's top hurdler a year ago, ran a 15.3 in winning the highs and was clocked in 41.6 for the 330-low hurdles.

Guyton also leaped 19 feet, 11¾ inches in the long jump and covered the 220-yard dash in 23.7.

"I'm pleased with his early performances," said Grasley of his 17-year-old senior. "He looks tough."

Grasley also was pleased with the winning performance of vaulter Mike Minor who successfully negotiated 12 feet, 3 inches. That was a personal high.

The Spartans received two wins from Pat Pudelek who tossed the shot 39 feet, 1 inch and the discus 116 feet.

Other Spartan winners included: Jerry Markley, in the 2-mile (10:29.9); Bryan Coughenour, in the high jump (5'11"), Mark Hagedon, in the 880 (2:10.1) who won by a "nose" over teammate Chuck Hobi also clocked in 2:10.1.

The Cherry Hill 88-yard relay consisting of Tim Wilson, Daryl Gallant, John Ireland and Coughenour coasted to an easy victory (1:38.7), while the mile relay made up of Gallant, Hobi, Tom Gorrington and Ireland hit the wire in 3:48.0.

The Spartan foursome of Ivy Gregory, Ken Wilson, Tom Wilson, Tom Minor and Mike Minor turned in a winning time of 47.9.

Grasley's bunch next will head for the Country Day Invitation which is scheduled for Saturday, April 16.

Baseball tryouts continue

The Belleville-Van Buren Junior Baseball Association will continue tryouts for its Little League baseball and softball teams this week.

Tryouts have been scheduled for April 16 and they will also be held the following two Saturdays April 23 and April 30. Prospective players should show up ready to practice at 10 a.m.

The league will utilize the diamond behind Belleville High School.

Boys must be 8-years-old by Aug. 1 and no older than 12 before or on July 31 to be eligible to compete; girls who wish to play softball must be 9-years-old by Aug. 1 and no older than 15 by July 31.

League officials urge players to bring their registration forms to the tryouts. Further information may be obtained by telephoning Eunice Kause at 697-0736.

A DOLLAR STILL GOES A LONG WAY BABY!

IF YOU HAVE ANY QUESTIONS ABOUT FOOD...
ASK BOBBIE

If you have any questions on food, write to:
Bobbie at Chatham Food Centers
2300 E. Ten Mile Rd.,
Warren, MI 48091

In an impromptu survey around the office, I asked "what can you do with your family for entertainment for a dollar a person or less?" Some of the answers included: visiting the Art Institute, historical museum, science museum, childrens museum, Dossin museum, Belle Isle: aquarium, childrens zoo and conservatory. Some women mentioned for a dollar or less: special movie matinees, indoor ice skating, one lane of bowling and the Cranbrook facilities. These answers may give you some ideas for the upcoming spring weekends for your family.

I also asked what you could buy in a supermarket for a dollar. The reactions were very interesting as most women think of their total grocery bill, rather than how far an individual dollar really goes in the supermarket. One woman said it would buy enough bread for 11 sandwiches, and she would have money left toward the filling. One of the men asked said he could buy 2 pounds of chicken for a dollar or less. Another answer was: "I can buy 9 packages of Kool Aid for my scout troop." A bachelor said he could buy a sausage pizza under a dollar, 3 pot pies under a dollar, and 2 frozen spaghetti or macaroni and cheese dinners for under one dollar. We know how he cooks! A constant dieter did some figuring and came up with, "I can buy 1 1/2 pounds of yogurt for less than a dollar and a half-gallon of ice milk for less than one dollar."

A young person came up with the fact that they could buy enough popcorn to last through the late, late shows on TV for several weeks! A camper said he could buy 1 pound of hot dogs for less than a dollar, 1 pound of canned beans for less than a dollar and 3 pounds of refrigerated biscuits for less than one dollar!

One dollar still goes a long way in the supermarket. Next time you shop, do some spot checking in the different departments and you will be surprised just how far one dollar will go these days.
